Greatest Unsolved Mysteries

Everybody has heard of the Loch Ness Monster and Bigfoot, unsolved mysteries. In this treatise I intend to reveal mysteries you hopefully have never heard of: The world is full of strange unexplained events, edificies and artifacts. This book explains some of them.

Coming back from the dead

Haiti is famous for stories of zombies. There are members of the scientific community who have investigated claims of dead people rising from their graves. They have all retreated shaking their heads. It has been suggested that a powerful family of neurotoxins called Tetraodontiformes are responsible for inducing the Zombie state. Tetradontiformes are found in pufferfish, porcupine fish, ocean sunfish and trigger fish.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Felicia Felix-Mentor, a Haitian died of a lingering disease in 1907. She was buried in her family plot. One night months later an emaciated figure in rags staggered into the poor dwelling of the Felix-Mentors. Her husband fainted in shock after recognising his long deceased wife. Mrs Felix-Mentor spent the remainder of her days in an asylum having suffered a relapse. She had no language, seemed to recognise no one and was completely oblivious to her surroundings. This is certainly not an isolated situation.

t.me/ufopediapdf

In August 1892 in Hawaii several Chinese sugar cane labourers displayed all the signs of a Haitian zombie. The ‘plague’ spread rapidly throughout Oahu and soon to Honolulu. Wave after wave of zombies came staggering out of the jungle forcing desperate islanders to flee to neighboring islands. Coincidentally this was the year the USA was canvessing for Hawaii to become their 50th state.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Despite wishing to remain independent the Queen of Hawai had no choice but to seek help from the United States of America. A detachment of FVZA troops was despatched from mainland USA. They managed to wrest control of the city from the zombies. However, the surrounding countryside proved more resilient. Further FVZA agents were despatched. Meanwhile sugar planters took advantage of the chaos and in the ensuing coup the Queen was deposed. Hawaii did not become the 50th state of the USA until August 21, 1959. Hawaii's 1892- 1893 zombie outbreak killed just under 2000 people.

In 1997 the English medical journal The Lancet published an intriguing set of case studies detailing three reports of zombies in Haiti. What caused the dead to walk in these instances?

Here are the three case studies between 1996-1997:

t.me/ufopediapdf

FI was around 30 years old when she died after a short febrile illness and was buried by her family the same day in the family tomb next to her house. 3 years later she was recognised by a friend wandering near the village; her mother confirmed her identity by a facial mark, as did her 7-year-old daughter, her siblings, other villagers, her husband, and the local priest. She appeared mute and unable to feed herself. Her parents accused her husband of zombifying her (he was jealous of her after she had had an affair). After a local court authorised the opening of her tomb, which was full of stones, her parents were undecided whether to take her home and she was admitted to the psychiatric hospital in Port-au Prince

WD, 26 years old, was the eldest son of an alleged former tonton macoute (secret policeman) under the Duvaliers' regime. The father was our principal informant together with WD's mother and other villagers. When he was 18, he suddenly became ill with a

fever, "his eyes turned yellow," he "smelled bad like death," and "his body swelled up". Suspecting sorcery, his father asked his older brother to obtain advice from a boko [or sorcerer], but WD died after 3 days and was buried in a tomb on family land next to the house of a female cousin. The tomb was not, as was customary, watched that night.

19 months later, WD reappeared at a nearby cock fight, recognised his father, and accused his uncle of zombifying him.

MM, aged 31, was the younger sister of our principal informant who described her as formerly a friendly but quiet and shy girl, not very bright. At the age of 18, MM had joined some friends in prayers for a neighbour who had been zombified; she herself then became ill with diarrhoea and fever, her body swelled up and she died in a few days. The family suspected revenge sorcery. After 13 years, MM had reappeared in the town market 2 months before we met her, with an account of having been kept as a zombie in a village 100 miles to the north, and having borne a child to another zombie (or perhaps to the boko). On the death of the boko, his son had released her and she travelled home on foot.

t.me/ufopediapdf

The researchers diagnosed the first patient with catatonic schizophrenia, the second with epilepsy and brain damage (presumably from oxygen deprivation), and the third with potential fetal alcohol syndrome.

Researchers posit that reported cases of zombification have less to

t.me/ufopediapdf

do with mind-controlling neurotoxins and more to do with untreated or undiagnosed mental illness and brain disorders.

Wade Davis published a paper on zombies after visiting Haiti: Chapel Hill, The University of North Carolina Press. 1988. His conclusions were as follows:

there are zombies

- however, there are actually very very few of them
- they are created in part by a poisoned powder
- and created in part by the effects of the culture
- a person becomes a zombie when they fall into a death-like trance which is both drug and culturally induced
- they are revived then kept under the control of the houngan by the use of other drugs
- zombies are created by Voodoo priests who are members of the Bizango secret societies
- Bizango societies constitute a totally secret and hidden other

t.me/ufopediapdf

government beneath the surface of Haitian society

- zombification is not random nor for profit or personal vendetta
- zombification is the ultimate punishment to someone who has seriously violated the law of the Bizango society

Davis claims there is a poisoned powder which causes the target person to fall into a death-like trance. It was to seek this drug that originally got Davis the assignment to track down the zombie poison. His sponsors reasoned that such a

drug must exist, and if they could find it might have valuable pharmacological possibilities as an alternative to currently popular but unsafe anaesthetics.

The great controversy which Davis' book has caused is mainly connected to his claim that the chemical tetrodotoxin, obtained from the puffer fish, is the primary active ingredient in this "zombie powder."

However, what seems to be universally missed by Davis' critics, or simply ignored, is his claim that the powder alone cannot adequately account for nor make a zombie. Davis describes the "set and setting" which is required for the powder to work. "...set, in these terms, is the individual's expectation of what the drug will do to him or her; setting is the environment--both physical and, in this case, social--in which the drug is taken."

Thus the poison in the powder - a psycho-active drug (one

t.me/ufopediapdf

whose effect is related to specific personal psychological factors) - will have different effects depending on who one is, what one's socialization and expectations are. In the case of Haitian members of the Bizango sect, they have been socialized to recognize the possibility and process of zombification and are psychologically attuned to the appropriate effects of the drug.

Davis' book presents a strong hypothesis concerning the why of zombification. In a country so drastically poor as Haiti, with labour costs for farm hands only about $1.00 a day, one cannot account for zombification on the grounds of seeking cheap labour. One might imagine zombification as a way to seek revenge upon ones enemies.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Davis tells of a long history of secret societies stretching back into the earliest days of slavery. Escaped slaves (the maroons) living deep in the mountains created an alternative society, more African than Western. These societies brought with them the remembered lore of Africa including knowledge of the use of local poisons. These poisons were used as tools of social control within the maroon communities. After independence and the radical split between the life in the rural areas and the cities these maroon social organizations became the secret Bizango societies. Zombification is effectively their reprisal for serious violations of the code of

t.me/ufopediapdf

conduct required in Bizango.

Strange Sounds Around the World

In 2011 in Kiev residents took to the streets to determine the source of a strange ‘injured whale’ deep sound. The noise could be heard for many miles but nobody has been able to trace its source. Probably the earliest recorded experience of this unearthly sound was in 1990 in Taos, New Mexico (in the vicinity of Area 51). Similar sounds have been heard since in New Jersey where the sound was reported as a “Sky Roar” on January 11th and 12th 2011. Others described it as a loud shushing or snoring noise.

Manitoba, Canada 2012 http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=FEBSFUWwWQ8

A dreadful bellowing could be heard in Terrace British Columbia on August 29th 2013:

t.me/ufopediapdf

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=MApXSlNiVdU

During 2011 and 2012 eerie sounds were recorded in parts of Romania, England, China, Brazil, Hungary, Costa Rica, Poland

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ULjVkQvsBn4

Solar flares

Some scientists laugh the unearthly sounds off as being the result of solar flares.

“Given the surge in solar activity, as manifested itself in the higher number and energy of solar flares since mid-2011, we can assume that there is a high probability of increase in solar activity. This may explain the unusual humming coming from the sky”.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Solar activity began to rise sharply from early 2011, with its amplitude significantly higher than all forecasts before 2010. This observed increase in solar activity is fully consistent with the forecast of the International Committee Geochange published in this Committee's Report of June 2010. If the growth rate of solar activity continues, its amplitude by the end of 2012 will be higher than the amplitude of 23rd solar cycle, and in 2013-2014 the solar activity will reach its peak - the amplitude of which was predicted to be 1.5 - 1.7 times higher than the amplitude of the 23rd cycle.

Another group of scientists lists the cause of these sounds as the core of the planet itself:

“The acceleration of the drift of the Earth's north magnetic pole (which increased more than fivefold between 1998 and 2003 and is at the same level today) points to intensification of energy processes in the Earth's core. It is processes in the inner and outer core that form the Earth's geomagnetic field.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Meanwhile, as we have already reported, on November 15, 2011 all ATROPATENA geophysical stations which record three-dimensional variations of the Earth's gravitational field almost simultaneously registered a powerful gravitational impulse. The stations are deployed in Istanbul, Kiev, Baku, Islamabad and Yogyakarta, with the first and last one being separated by a distance of about 10,000 km. Such a phenomenon is only possible if the source of this emanation is at the Earth's core level. That huge energy release from the Earth's core at the end of the last year was some kind of a start signal indicating the transition of the Earth's internal energy into a new active phase".

Some religious people say this is the seven trumpets that are mentioned in the Book of Revelation that herald the end of times. Others offer a more down to earth but equally dissatisfying explanation such as tree felling. Some scientists have suggested that NASA is testing Project Blue Beam (first postulated by Nikola

t.me/ufopediapdf

Tesla):

Project Blue Beam

Project Blue Beam is the creation of lights and sounds that can be specifically targeted to any point on planet Earth. By using super electronic waves HAARP can control everyone on our planet. Mad scientist technology or a reality?

The Blue Beam Project is HAARP's most dangerous and most destructive project. As well as projecting light and sound to any locale on the planet HAARP are able to control weather conditions, therefore invoking Tsunami and earthquakes. HAARP have been flexing their muscles since 2011 in preparation for the biggest hoax in history – invasion by aliens.

Some people feel that Project Blue Beam is part of a larger

t.me/ufopediapdf

conspiracy involving NASA and the formation of a One World Religion. This new religion, they feel, might be spearheaded by the "Antichrist" and could usher in a New World Order. For full details on our enslaved past and horrific future read my book Prison Planet Earth.

By employing advanced technology the Chosen One will appear to be performing world wide miracles. The Illuminati will announce this as the Second Coming of the Messiah and therefore hold the entire world population in its thrall.

If this is true then we are beset with another mystery. Who is the Antichrist? Details in my books regarding the Antichrist.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Satan’s footprints

Way back in 1855 on February 8th after a fall of snow in the South of Devon, England villagers awoke to a sight that was indeed out

t.me/ufopediapdf

of this world. Footprints in the snow is nothing out of the ordinary but the footprints seen by thousands of people traversed rooftops, seemingly passed through the walls of barns and continued for hundreds of miles. It was universally agreed that they were not made by Santa Claus but by the Devil himself. Some witnesses said the prints made it appear as if Satan had walked across the river Exe.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Most of the villages in South Devon, from Totnes to Topsham, had been inundated with the prints. Some stopped abruptly and continued after a break, others stopped at walls as high as 13 feet, only to continue on the other side, leaving untouched snow on the top of the wall.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Some were even said to have travelled through drainpipes. On March 12th 2009 the footprints once again appeared in the same villages and across the exact same countryside as in1855.

Angel Hair

On a lighter note and in light of the increased frequency of UFOs that seem to represent angels there has been since 1917 an occurrence now known as Angel Hair.

A sticky, delicate fibrous substance described as siliceous cotton it was first reported to have fallen out of the sky during the UFO/Virgin Mary sighting at Fatima, Portugal in 1917.

There was an occurrence witnessed by scores of people at Orleons, France in 1952

On October 27, 1954 Gennaro Lucetti and Pietro Lastrucci stood on the balcony of a hotel in St. Mark’s Square, Venice. They saw

t.me/ufopediapdf

two "shining spindles" flying across the sky leaving a trail of angel hair.

Billy Meier

Born Eduard Meier on February 3rd 1937, living in Switzerland, this unassuming personality claims to have spent his life in contact with beings from the Pleiades. The Pleiadian system is commonly called the Seven Sisters Star system.

In Billy’s possession are an incredible stockpile of photographs of UFOs. Some are flying others are on the ground.

Billy has travelled to many countries under instruction from first Semjase then the Pleiadian known as Quetzal. The latter is the youngest son of Enki – the Serpent who taught humanity.

t.me/ufopediapdf

This is detailed in Arrival of the Anunnaki by Gary G Margrove.

In a television interview conducted by Nippon Television (Japan) in 1980, Meier is asked about the attempts on his life. On the evening of May 10, 1980 at 10 p.m a shot was fired at Billy. The bullet missed Meier's head by only 203 mm. The bullet was found embedded in a concrete wall directly behind the couch on which

t.me/ufopediapdf

Billy was sitting. This was not the first attempt on his life. One occurred in Hinwil during the Winter some time between 7 and 8 p.m. A bullet pierced Billy's office window, closely missing his head. The thrid attempt was partially successful in that the bullet entered his chest. For years Billy has existed with only one arm after yet another 'accident'.

If the accounts of Billy Meier are fabricated who and why should want him dead|?

Some of the information presented by Pleiadians over the many years of contact:

- Our sun has a "dark twin" which is located about one light year away. Therefore we live in a binary Star system
- There are 280 chemical elements in the universe, but it is a creational law that no single Star contains all 280 of them.
- The next inhabited solar system is around five light years away from Earth. Different worlds in that system are inhabited by human forms of life. One of the planets located there is called Akart.
- There was another planet in our solar system called

t.me/ufopediapdf

Malona, which was destroyed by its inhabitants. The adteroid belt is the remnants of that former planet.

- Our universe is around 46 trillion years old, not billions of years old, as Earth scientists claim

Meier's alleged discussions with the Plejarens are highly detailed and wide-ranging, dealing with subjects ranging from spirituality and the afterlife to the dangers of mainstream religions, human history, science and astronomical phenomena, ecology and environmental dangers, in addition to prophecies of future historic

t.me/ufopediapdf

trends and events.

An additional aspect of the Meier case is the highly controversial book the Talmud Jmmanuel. It is said to be the translation of ancient Aramaic scrolls that were discovered by Meier and a colleague in Jerusalem in 1963. The book claims to be the original teachings and life events of the man named Jmmanuel (Jesus Christ). Meier claims to have travelled back in time to meet Jmmanuel and his wife Maryam.

There is a plethora of information and testimony regarding Meier's meetings with extra terrestrials. I suggest you check it out for yourself and reach your own conclusion.

Stanley Hotel

High in the Rocky Mountains in Colorado USA is the most haunted

t.me/ufopediapdf

hotel in the world. It is the inspiration for the film The Shining starring Jack Nicholson.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Every part of the Hotel is said to be haunted especially room 418. Children laughing and playing have been seen in corridors and a ghostly piano plays music in the empty ballroom.

t.me/ufopediapdf

How did they know?

We have all have of the predictions of Nostradamus but did you know that many other people have made straightforward predictions that came true?

t.me/ufopediapdf

John Elfreth Watkins predicted the use of tanks, digital photgraphy, television and even cellular telephones. This was in 1900.

In 1941 the science fiction writer Robert Heinlein wrote of a nuclear stalemate between two ‘superpowers’. Another famous writer Jules Verne wrote of submarines, rocketships to the moon and telescopes that could see into faraway galaxies. He even subscribed to the hollow Earth theory whereby the real occupants of planet Earth are living within the Earth illuminated by a small star.

The blockbuster series and movie franchise Star Trek has systematically introduced technology that became a reality years later. From the cellular telephone to the 3-D printer as well as travel through hyperspace and teleportation as shown regularly on this series. The latter will become reality in the next few years thanks to the LHC at Geneva.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Perhaps the most amazing prophet of modern times is the writer Herbert George Wells. He accurately described the use of the atom bomb and the resultant devastation for years afterwards. He is best remembered for his book about time travel which may exist today (please read my treatise Time Travel).

Mysteries of Immense High Cavern Being Brought to Light

JORDAN IS ENTHUSED

Remarkable Finds Indicate Ancient People Migrated From Orient

The latest news of the progress of the explorations of what is now regarded by scientists as not only the oldest archeological discovery in the United States, but one of the most valuable in the world, which was mentioned some time ago in the Gazette, was brought to the city yesterday by G.E. Kinkaid, the explorer who found the great underground citadel of the Grand Canyon during a trip from Green River, Wyoming, down the Colorado, in a wooden boat, to Yuma, several months ago.

t.me/ufopediapdf

According to the story related to the Gazette by Mr. Kinkaid, the archeologists of the Smithsonian Institute [1], which is financing the expeditions, have made discoveries which almost conclusively prove that the race which inhabited this mysterious cavern, hewn in solid rock by human hands, was of oriental origin, possibly from Egypt, tracing back to Ramses. If their theories are borne out by the translation of the tablets engraved with hieroglyphics, the mystery of the prehistoric peoples of North America, their ancient arts, who they were and whence they came, will be solved. Egypt and the Nile, and Arizona and the Colorado will be linked by a historical chain running back to ages which staggers the wildest fancy of the fictionist.

t.me/ufopediapdf

A Thorough Examination

Under the direction of Prof. S. A. Jordan, the Smithsonian Institute is now prosecuting the most thorough explorations, which will be continued until the last link in the chain is forged. Nearly a mile underground, about 1480 feet below the surface, the long main passage has been delved into, to find another mammoth chamber from which radiates scores of passageways, like the spokes of a wheel.

Several hundred rooms have been discovered, reached by passageways running from the main passage, one of them having been explored for 854 feet and another 634 feet. The recent finds include articles which have never been known as native to this country, and doubtless they had their origin in the orient. War weapons, copper instruments, sharp-edged and hard as steel,

t.me/ufopediapdf

indicate the high state of civilization reached by these strange people. So interested have the scientists become that preparations are being made to equip the camp for extensive studies, and the force will be increased to thirty or forty persons.

Antikythera

Anti what? Discovered in the wreck of the Antikythera off the coast of Greece in 1901 is a device by which sailors may navigate the high seas. It predicts eclipses and astronomical positions. Thought to have been invented in the fifteenth century this gear-driven device is actually 2000 years old. How did the ancients know of such things and how did we lose this precious knowledge?

t.me/ufopediapdf

Baghdad Batteries

Discovered at Khujut Rabu on the outskirts of Baghdad, Iraq was a series of jars with stoppers made of asphalt. Inserted in the asphalt is an iron rod within a copper cylinder. By placing vinegar inside the jars each one produces 10 Volts or so. They may then be set up in series to produce a total of 60 Volts – sufficient to light a cave on a dark night. The jars date back to the time of Jesus Christ or

Ancient giant skeletons

The tallest human on record was just under 3 metres. Yet skeletons of giants, some 5-6 metres tall have been discovered in such faraway places as South America and India. Were these the Nephilim, the Anunnaki – the giants who were mentioned in

t.me/ufopediapdf

Genesis?

allegedly massive size of the skeletons and lengthened skulls did not fit into any scientific concept that was in textbooks of the day. They were massive and not believed to be any type of normal human beings.

These alleged findings were first reported in the May 4, 1912 edition of the New York Times. It stated that these skeletons had heights which ranged from 7.6 feet up to 10 feet and the skulls were much bigger than the heads of any type of person who lived inside America today. The story also said the skulls had double rows of teeth, six toes on each foot and six fingers on each hand. It was also reported that these bones were believed to belong to beings that could have even been aliens."

Quote “The Giant of Castelnau was a fossil bone discovery which may represent one of the largest humans known to have existed. The bones, found in a Bronze Age burial tumulus, date back to the Neolithic period and consisted of a humerus, tibia and femoral mid-shaft. The scientist who made the discovery in 1890 estimated from the bone size that the human may have been over three meters tall. The bones were discovered by the anthropologists Georges Vacher de Lapouge at the Bronze Age cemetery of Castelnau-le-Lez, France in the winter of 1890. His findings were published in the journal La Nature, Vol. 18, 1890 Issue 888. The height of the individual was estimated at about 3.5

In the mid-1800s near Rutland and Rodman, New York. J.N. DeHart, M.D. found vertebrae "larger than those of the present type" in Wisconsin mounds in 1876.

W.H.R. Lykins uncovered skull bones "of great size and thickness" in mounds of Kansas City area in 1877.

George W. Hill, M.D., dug out a skeleton "of unusual size" in a mound of Ashland County, Ohio.

In 1879, a nine-foot, eight-inch skeleton was excavated from a mound near Brewersville, Indiana (Indianapolis News, Nov 10, 1975).

A spark plug normally found in a car was found embedded in rock dated as millions of years old. Perfect replicas of ancient aeroplanes known as vimana. Read my book Continent of Atlantis.

A 100,000 year old hand bell beautifully engraved, a carpenter’s hammer of equal age and ancient model aeroplanes unearthed in Columbia are just some of the out of place artefacts ignored by mainstream historians and scientists. The artefacts are iIgnored so archaeologists and anthropologists can perpetuate the ‘recognised view’ of Darwinism and our ‘gradual rise to an advanced civilisation’. Hooey.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Throughout history we have been instructed by self-styled ‘experts’. This has been especially apparent in all modern religions and formal education. In reality those who instruct were themselves spoonfed information they believed to be correct.

Why did they believe it to be true? Because they were told by their peers that it was the truth. This passage of apparent facts from one generation to another has resulted in a picture of the world and especially history that is far from accurate. In fact deliberately instilled disinformation has placed the people of the world into a profound state of ignorance.

t.me/ufopediapdf

If I told you that all we have been taught throughout history is largely fabrication would you accept my statement at face value? I do hope not. However you have accepted at face value all that your

t.me/ufopediapdf

peers have taught you. Their policy has always been to provide information that best suits their needs and not your own.

A perfect example are the Scriptures. Genesis was written by Hebrews who themselves were captives in Babylon. Wishing for an end to enslavement they scoured the Library of Ashurbanipal. The two Hebrew authors of Genesis attempted to explain why their gods had abandoned them. When they found passages in the Enuma Elish that explained the origins of our world and the gods' creation of mankind they fabricated a story of Satan (the Serpent) leading the first couple astray. Owing to Eve's transgression in disobeying her gods all mankind (in particular the emerging Jewish Faith) were doomed to a life of pain and torment.

Since then females have suffered a 'bad press'. This act of eating an apple from the Tree is entirely fiction. Simply by rereading the story you surely will see that it makes no sense to all.

t.me/ufopediapdf

In this book I intend to lay out facts that when compounded will positively influence your decision to accept that the reality we believe we exist in is in fact an illusion.

We shall begin bu unravelling all the ‘facts’ that you have hitherto been informed are absolutely the truth. As we progress I may offend some but surely the Truth is the fundamentally most important aspect and must be pursued no matter what.

This book is written after nearly sixty years of research. I have sought the elusive Utopia, happiness, peace and contentment and explored spirituality. I have searched religion, science and mysticism for the answer to the fundamental questions:

- Who am I?
- Why am I here?

I looked for the answers in formal education, formal religious

t.me/ufopediapdf

practices and the sciences as well as in deep meditation. I believe I may have discovered the Truth. It is so simple yet so fantastic only a handful pf human beings discover It in each generation. A handful from billions.

Until the fifteenth century we were taught that the Earth was flat. Then we were taught that the sun revolved around the Earth. Humans are all made in the image of God and thus we rule planet Earth. There are no other lifeforms on the billions of planets in the Universe.

Yet recently cosmologists have informed us there are inhabitable planets by the bucket load and our sun even has a twin. More later.

Why are constellations so important? Because the very energies that affect us change with the introduction of each new Age. We have entered an age when the energies are allowing us to break

t.me/ufopediapdf

free from this mundanity, this illusion. Yet there are those who wish us to remain imprisoned forevermore. Some say this is Satan, some say Illuminati some say Lucifer and some blame reptilians. It really does not matter who is to blame if you accept that the 'reality' we live in is an illusion, just like the pack of cards in the story of Alice in Wonderland.

Evolution

Anthropologists and scientists have created a heartwarming explanation for the evolution and origin of the human race. Scientists in their zeal to postulate how the Earth itself came into existence have merely guessed at its origin. They have ignored the overwhelming evidence that proves humans are an engineered species that were from another planet many light years away. Their guesses have become accepted belief at least in the 'developed' countries. Yet 'primitive' peoples (instilled with indoctrination from the West) have always known the Truth.

t.me/ufopediapdf

The book of Genesis tells us “There were giants in those days. They were called the Nephilim. They came from heaven to Earth. They took for themselves human wives”

t.me/ufopediapdf

In those days is an indeterminate period. Genesis was compiled around 200 B.C. so ‘in those days’ must be some time BEFORE 200 B.C. So when was this? The Great Flood is a period in antiquity when the majority of the population was said to have been drowned in a massive Tsunami that either swept the entire planet or at the very least Mesopotamia.

Many writers (especially Zecharia Sitchin) specify that our ancestors were taught many things by E.B.E.s (Extraterrestrial Biological Entities). He firmly states that our ancestors were altered genetically to suit the purposes of the E.B.E.s

Around 500,000 years ago the Neanderthal mysteriously vanished and ‘modern’ man appeared on the scene. Archaeologists (adhering to Darwinism) and scientists have spent many fruitless years searching for the missing link. There is no missing link as the apes in Eastern Africa at that time were genetically altered to increase their intellectual capacity. They became a slave race for the ‘gods’. Mr. Sitchin and myself have written extensively on this subject and I shall not be repeating my work or his here.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Accepted doctrine is that ‘somehow’ a fantastic civilisation arose in the Middle East ca 3000 B.C. These were the Sumerians and they built Ziggurat and aqueducts and enjoyed the pleasures of bathing, sanitation and agriculture. They had a grasp of Mathematics, measurement of time and astronomy. Pretty amazing for a bunch of savages.

Remains of the giants that walked the Earth (our Lords, our gods) are found throughout the world. Stepped pyramids, the Nazca lines, stone circles and even their skeletons are on display throughout the planet.

Ironically the same archaeologists and scientists that ‘buy into’ Darwinism have ignored the giant skeletons they continually unearth. It is these skeletons that present the clue to why the

t.me/ufopediapdf

missing link between Neanderthal and Homo sapien sapien shall never be found.

There is no missing link. Some 400000 years ago we (in particular homo Africanus) were genetically altered to suit the purposes of our masters – the giants known to Sumerians as the

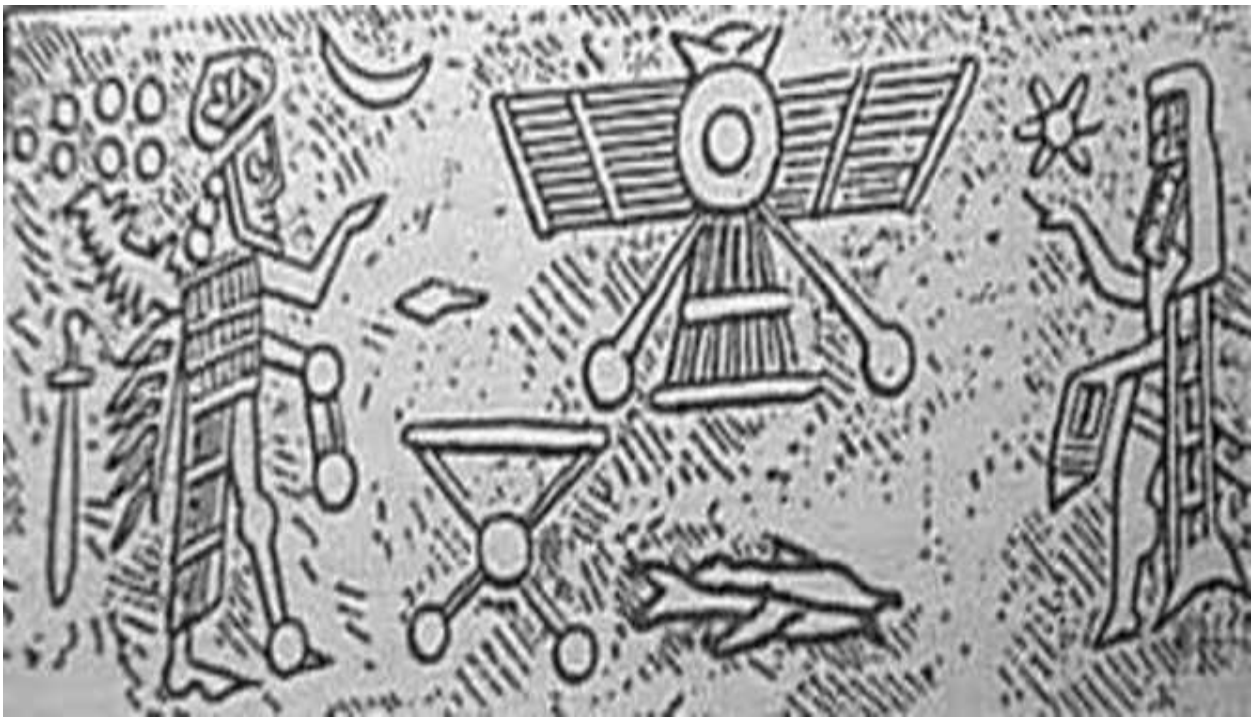
t.me/ufopediapdf

ANUNNAKI

The Anunnaki are a race of humanoid giants that ruled over planet Earth for hundreds of thousands of years. Those they left in charge when they returned to their own Star system have kept us all in ignorance ever since 1054 B.C. They have been incredibly successful at spinning a story in order to maintain control of both religion and Government. They are in fact descendents of

t.me/ufopediapdf

hybridised Anunnaki/humans known as demigods.



The Star system referred to by the ancient Sumerians as Nibiru has reentered our Solar System as indeed it does every 3600 years. It comprises a brown dwarf Star and three orbiting planets. Check out the NASA website and you tube to verify these statements.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Our ‘gods’ travelled freely from Mars to the Moon to Earth and manned orbitting space stations. This is not so far fetched as we have achieved all the above ourselves relatively recently. Yes we have colonists on Mars. See my book Mars Colony and Moon Bases.

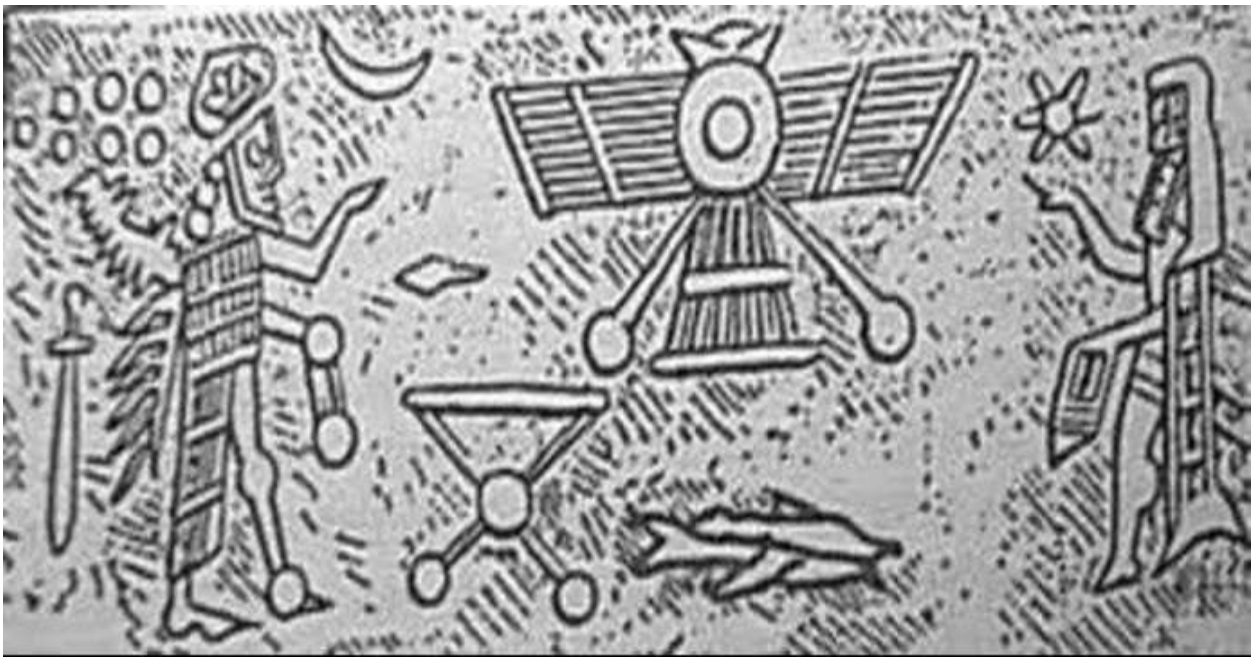
Of course we are taught none of this at school and mainstream science maintains silence on the subject of alien rulers in the dim past. Yet the evidence has piled so high that much of it lies

t.me/ufopediapdf

gathering dust in Museums throughout the planet.

NASA footage is seriously airbrushed daily to hide the wonderful ancient cities of crystal and modern structures on the Moon. The pyramids and mausoleum on Mars are passed off as ‘natural oddities’.

t.me/ufopediapdf



Perhaps this is all too much and you wish to return to accepted doctrine. Was the Earth a ‘chunk’ of a Star or a ‘ball of swirling gases’ that somehow solidified then cooled over billions of years? Did Darwin really discover the path of evolution?

We shall return to this subject later.

t.me/ufopediapdf

The Lost Colony of Roanoke

The Americas had been ‘discovered’ by Europeans in the later 15th century. During the reign of Queen Elizabeth 1 Sir Walter Raleigh was granted a charter on March 25, 1584 to establish a colony in what is now North America.

Raleigh raised the necessary capital and volunteers with the express intention of bringing back gold and precious stones for Her Gracious Majesty. The Eastern seaboard of North America was to be explored and a suitable locale found for colonisation. The colony would also provide a base from which to send privateers on raids against the treasure fleets of Spain.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Raleigh led expeditions in 1595 and 1617 to South America's Orinoco River basin in search of the legendary golden city of El Dorado yet he never set foot on the continent of North America.

On April 27, 1584 an expedition led by Philip Amadas and Arthur Barlowe set sail to explore the Eastern coast of North America. On

t.me/ufopediapdf

July 4th (fitting date) they disembarked on a tiny island they named Roanoke Island. The inhabitants of this island (Secotans and Croatoans) were extremely friendly. In fact Arthur Barlowe returned to England with two Croatans named Manteo and Wanchese. Disgustingly these proud people were deemed savages by the Europeans. Elizabeth and the royal court were amused by the attempts by the Croatans to speak English (like we could speak their language fluently). Upon mastering the English language the 'natives' detailed their political and social system and provided detailed drawings of their homeland. This would prove invaluable to European settlers in the near future.

Raleigh went ahead with a second expedition, headed by Sir Richard Grenville.

On April 9, 1585 five ships (the Tiger (Grenville's), the Roebuck, the Red Lion, the Elizabeth, and the Doroth) set sail from Plymouth (principal harbour of the English Royal Navy).

t.me/ufopediapdf

Grenville's ship was separated from the others off the coast of Portugal. He sailed to Puerto Rico where he established a stockade. The Tiger engaged in several skirmishes with Spanish ships always returning to the safety of the stockade. Despite lengthy reports of seizing treasure from the Spanish nobody has ever been able to discover the whereabouts of Grenville's headquarters.

In early July the Tiger was reunited with the Roebuck and the Dorothy. The other two ships were busily engaged in relieving Spanish galleons of their immense wealth.

t.me/ufopediapdf

For several weeks the proud occupants of the village named Aquascogoc became willing hosts to the crew of the aforementioned three ships. One day a silver cup was stolen so in true European fashion Grenville and his crew razed the village. This was to be the first of many heinous atrocities committed by Europeans on the generally peaceful Native Americans.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Lacking basic supplies especially livestock and preserved foods Grenville decided to return to England to reprovision and return with more settlers and weapons. Even in those early days it became obvious that the English had no intention of leaving the natives in peace.

Ralph Lane and 107 men remained to establish the colony at the north end of Roanoke Island. A date of April 1586 was set for

t.me/ufopediapdf

Grenville's return. The date was August 17, 1585.

Lane built a small fort on the island then set out to map and explore the island and environs.

In June 1586 there was an attack on the fort which in turn was repelled. Some weeks later Sir Francis Drake met with the colonists (returning home from a successful raid in the Caribbean – named after the native Carob people) He returned to England with many of the original colonists – who introduced to England tobacco, maize and potatoes. As previously stated Sir Walter Raleigh never visited North America. He did however fund the expedition and therefore took full credit for the introduction of tobacco and the potato. Mildly interested with these products Elizabeth nevertheless demanded the gold that had been promised.

A small detachment of troops and settlers (90 men, 17 women, and 11 children) remained on Roanoke Island. In 1588 the promised invasion by the Spanish Armada (the largest flight in history to that

t.me/ufopediapdf

date) prevented any ships from leaving Britain. It wasn't until August 1590 that supply ships were despatched to the colony at Roanoke Island. They found no signs of the colonists. Everything was undisturbed, the fort was intact and there appeared to be enough provisions and armaments – just no settlers.

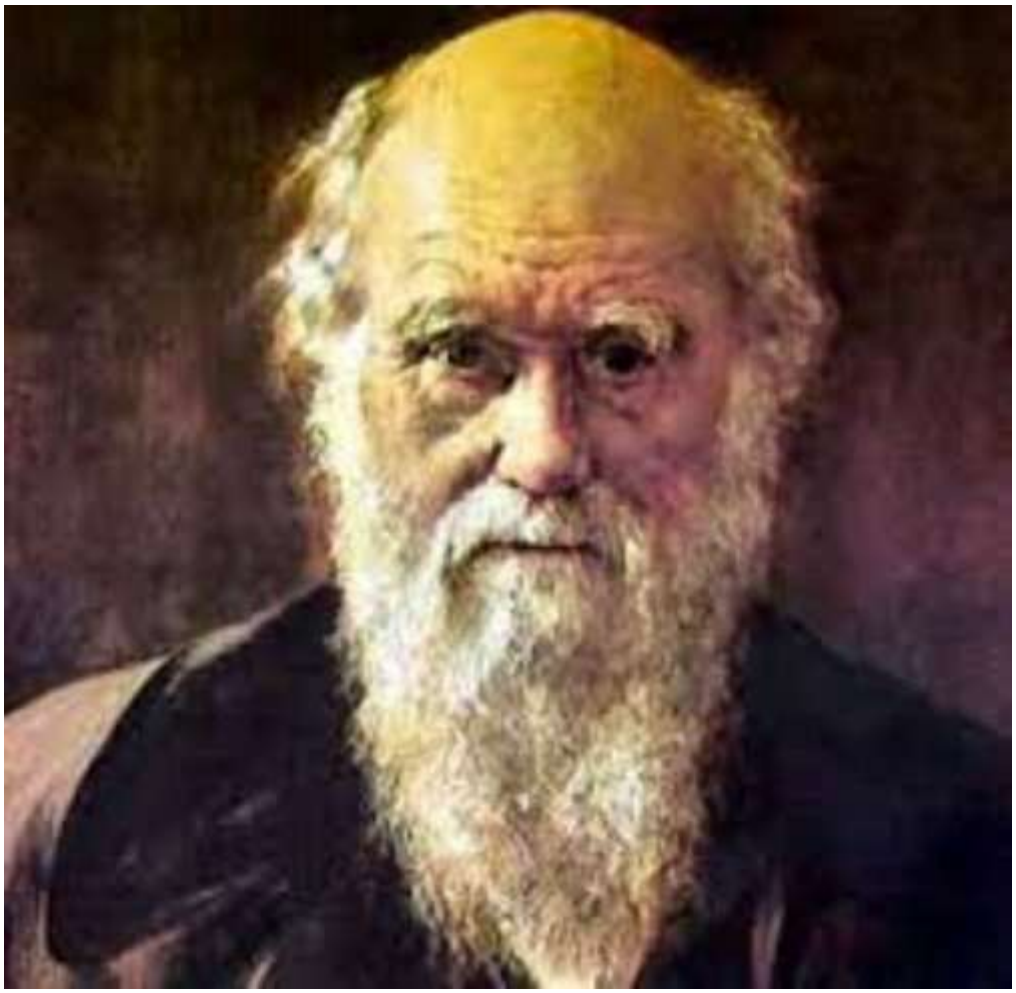
Carved into a fencepost was the word "Croatoan" and part of the same word etched upon the bark of a tree.

t.me/ufopediapdf

The captain of the fleet (White) had agreed with the settlers that if they were forced to leave the colony for any reason they should carve a Maltese Cross on a specific tree. No such cross was to be seen. Weeks of searching proved fruitless. Inquiries of the local inhabitants equally led to a dead end. The most intriguing aspect of this whole mystery was that the colonists had carefully dismantled

t.me/ufopediapdf

their dwellings and taken their individual clothing and valuables. Where did they go and why was nobody able to trace them?



Darwinism is a rather lazy way of explaining how all life evolved from a kind of Primeval Soup. In his book The Origin of Species Darwin states that humans evolved from apes. If this theory is correct then we should be able to mate with apes. In fact we should still be apes. Apes are stronger than humans and obviously well adapted to their environment (if not, according to Darwin, they would have evolved into something else). If apes evolved into humans then why are there still apes throughout the world and what conditions were present for apes to suddenly begin wearing high heels?

t.me/ufopediapdf

If the ocean is the ocean why are there particularly large whales and also tiny fish? Wouldn't all oceanic life evolve into the most advantageous form? I have lots more to say on this subject but I believe Darwin (despite his thousands of findings) didn't quite 'hit the nail on the head'. For a Victorian populous, enslaved by religion for thousands of years, a 'scientific' explanation was welcomed. At this time in history the general populous had had enough of religion being rammed down their throats, observing the Church becoming ever richer.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Scientists hypothesise that all life originated in the oceans. Since this theory became popular many have attempted to recreate life in the laboratory using electricity to simulate lightning. Now we all know that lightning (like electricity) is earthed by the ground itself. It also sends massive electrical charge out of our atmosphere. How is lightning able to super-excite chemicals in the oceans? How on Earth did all these amino acids gather together to produce a fish let alone a human? Somebody please explain.

No wonder scientists have not been able to duplicate complex life forms. They should be attempting to duplicate them in Outer Space where the electrical charge is far greater than in the oceans.

If Darwin was correct then why do we have more DNA in common with pigs than we do with apes? In fact we have much in common with the puffer fish. Nobody has told me we evolved from puffer fish. Incidentally 50% of human DNA is in common with a banana.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Because the period of evolution is over millions of years any hypothesis may be considered valid. I learned at school that owing to the drying of pools of water over thousands of years gills became lungs so ‘fish’ adapted to breathe air rather than water. Well when I observe pools they dry up pretty darn quickly. This evaporation would be far quicker millions of years ago when the Earth was much hotter. What were the silly fish doing in pools in the first place when there is the ocean to swim in?

Give or take a few more million years the ‘air breathers’ sprouted legs and took to the trees in fear of their lives. Some magically developed wings and others long tails to hold their credit cards.

The concept of escaping from dinosaurs by developing wings makes no sense at all as many species of dinosaur were also

t.me/ufopediapdf

aviators. The mere thought of hiding from a T Rex in the branches of a tree again is preposterous as the hungry carnivore will simply uproot the tree or pluck the ‘monkey’ from its perch.

When the danger from dinosaurs was past (fortunately there was a cataclysm in the form of a giant comet or comets that wiped out all dinosaurs – phew just in time) the shy tree dwellers returned to the ground to begin foraging. They must have been extremely hungry over the previous few million years.

When the dinosaurs had ceased to exist (all dinosaurs, all at once, all around the world) there would be scant reason to take to the air to escape them. Then why didn’t birds lose their wings and develop fingers, all the better to eat their KFC. After all we developed fingers whilst we were losing our pesky tails.

Much later clever ‘apes’ accidentally discovered the use of fire and

t.me/ufopediapdf

that is why we have an abundance of internationally renowned chefs.

On a serious note I pose a question for you and scientists to answer. Given that humankind arrived on the world stage relatively recently they have since proceeded to dominate the planet in an extremely ‘short period of time’. Why then did humans not evolve earlier? After all if natural selection is all about the fittest and finest adapting to the environment haven’t we proven that we are by far the best?

I make no apologies for poking fun at Darwinism. Charles himself refuted his findings several months before his death. He had primarily focused on the Galapagos Islands before presenting his theory to the Linnaean Society in 1858. He studied extensively the slow moving giant tortoises. My question is why did these tortoises not become dolphins or whales? The latter are far better adapted to their environment. If Darwin is correct there would be less than a hundred species not hundreds of thousands.

Humans have not physically adapted at all well to their environment. When the First People of North America and the Inuit were encountered by ‘white man’ they died in their thousands of innocuous ailments such as the common cold. Even the strongest human cannot uproot a large tree as elephants can. Indeed as water is far more prolific than land why are we not living in the oceans?

We need a more realistic theory for how a species that is at the same time brown, black, yellow and pink-skinned could become the Overlords of planet Earth. We must logically follow a regression back to our beginnings rather than hypothesising from which chemical bath we were sired.

Evidence

t.me/ufopediapdf

Documentary evidence for the existence of the human race extends backwards to around the year 2600 B.C. Sumerians and Egyptians were writing on baked clay tablets at this time. This only proves that there was already a language in play in both of these civilisations. The spoken word must have preceded the written word.

Therefore we must begin our quest for the origin of our species by asking ancient Egyptians and Sumerians. Did they record their history? Are they able to present to us clues that indicate how the world and humankind were created? Indeed they are.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Sometime during his reign King Hammurabi of Babylon (1792 BC to 1750 BC) captured the inhabitants of the land we know today as Israel. He took prisoner thousands of Hebrews (there was no Judaism in those days).

t.me/ufopediapdf

After the Battle of Carchemish in 605 B.C. King Nebuchadnezzar again enslaved people from this region. They were held captive in Babylon.

It was during the latter captivity in Babylon that Genesis was written. It was written by two scholars, both in captivity and both with access to ancient knowledge.

Many Hebrews were allowed to return to their homeland around 538 B.C. (following the Persian overthrow of Babylon). The remainder of the Torah was completed thereafter.

I shall point out right away that the book of Genesis should not be taken as Gospel. It was poorly copied from information contained in the Library of Ashurbanipal in Babylon. The book of Genesis (written by two authors) was a rough translation of the Enuma

t.me/ufopediapdf

Elish (written three thousand years earlier) in Sumeria.

Enuma Elish (Epic of Creation)

When in the height heaven was not named and the earth beneath did not yet bear a name...

The primeval Apsu (who begat them) - and chaos (Tiamut, the mother of them both).

Their waters were mingled together and no field was formed, no marsh was to be seen.

When of the gods none had been called into being, none bore a name and no destinies were ordained…..

Then were created the gods in the midst of heaven - Lahmu and Lahamu were called into being….

Ages increased then Ansar and Kisar were created….

Long were the days then there came forth Anu.

t.me/ufopediapdf

These are the first two paragraphs of the Epic of Creation.

So Sumerians not only profess to have knowledge of a time before the Earth was created they also name the earliest ‘gods’.

Compare this with Genesis:

In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth…. “Let there be light,”

No real clue as to how the Earth was created, just that it was created (which is self evident).

The Torah also originally spoke of Gods. It wasn’t until ‘Moses’ (himself a deposed Egyptian Pharaoh) led the newly named Israelites out of Egypt (every one of them a disgruntled Egyptian) that Gods became one God. The ‘believers’ were renamed Israelites. They took the name of Esau’s brother (Jacob became

t.me/ufopediapdf

Israel). However Israel also means follower of the Lord (god) Ra. Interestingly Ra is the an Egyptian god.

At that time Hebrews still worshipped a pantheon of gods. In fact many Israelites returned to their 'false worship' after the death of 'Moses'. Consequently when Genesis was written there was still a belief in a pantheon of gods. They included:
Baal, Asherah, Yahweh, Astarte, Beelzebub, Amun, Nergal, Tammuz, Nabu, Bel

Many of these gods were shared with Assyrians, Sumerians and Egyptians.

It stands to reason if the Sumerian civilisation was the first then later civilisations would adopt their customs and their gods.

I repeat, all those who travelled to Israel were Egyptians as indeed

t.me/ufopediapdf

was ‘Moses’. What is most disconcerting is that Moses was not his real name.

The term Moses actually means saved from water. After many translations of the Torah into so many languages the ‘child saved from drowning’ later became known as Moses.

I shall briefly explain this important stage in history as I have covered it extensively in other books especially those regarding the mysterious life of Jesus Christ.

‘Moses’ was the son of a princess. Shortly after he was born the Vizier dreamt that the child (upon reaching manhood) would present a serious problem to the future monarchy. The Vizier strongly advised having the baby put to death. In fear of her child’s life the princess spirited the baby away to a safe location. He was raised by foster parents. Bulrushes my arm.

t.me/ufopediapdf

In the ensuing years Egypt went through a dreadful period of turmoil as first one ‘house’ then another made claim to the throne. Not only civil war but war with other nations reduced the power of the empire. Eventually his mother became Queen Tiye.

Queen Obama?

t.me/ufopediapdf

After the death of his father (Amenhotep III) the ‘child’ was placed on the throne for a period of time.‘Moses’ was crowned Amenhotep IV. His Queen was Nefertiti. Whereas her tomb has been discovered his has not and never will be, because he died in Canaan.

The pair ruled Egypt for about 17 years from 1350 B.C.

On day 13 month 8, in the fifth year of his reign, he insisted on becoming known as Akhenaten (devoted to Aten). Aten is the disk of the Sun (Sun God).

From the outset Akenaten became rather unpopular as he insisted upon worship of one God. Zoroastrianism was the original monotheistic religion (originating in modern Iran). His foster

t.me/ufopediapdf

parents were Zoroastrians. They had reared ‘Moses’ in their own belief system.

Destroying effigies of all the Gods and replacing them with a smiling sun face did not go down well with the majority of Egyptians.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Amenhotep IV clung onto his throne for a scant few years. Civil war again ensued and ‘Moses’ was banished to a satellite of the Egyptian empire known as Canaan. Coincidentally this is where modern day Israel now stands. He took with him like-minded Egyptians. This of course means the original Israelites were Egyptians. There were no Israelites until the banished monotheists created the tiny state of Israel. Israel has always been attacked on numerous occasions. In fact the whole of Canaan has ‘changed hands’ many times.

I have explained very briefly the time before the Exodus for a very important reason. Please prove me wrong (and many other authors who agree with my findings). If indeed I am correct then at least one segment of the Old Testament is incomplete. How much more?

Vile Vortices

t.me/ufopediapdf

Ivan Sanderson has identified up to a dozen regions on the planet that seem to defy the laws of science or contain finds that have no contemporary explanation. They are found along specific lines of latitude both in the Northern and Southern Hemispheres. The most popular is the Bermuda Triangle.

Bermuda (Devil's) Triangle

Many aircraft and seagoing vessels have simply vanished in this region in the Western Atlantic.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Perhaps the most notable dissapearances are:

1. Flight 19, a training flight of five TBM Avenger torpedo bombers. The squadron's flight plan was scheduled to take them due east from Fort Lauderdale for 141 miles, north for 73 miles, and then back over a final 140-mile leg They

t.me/ufopediapdf

disappeared on December 5, 1945. The flight never returned to base. One of the search and rescue aircraft deployed to look for them, a PBM Mariner with a 13-man crew was also 'lost at sea'.

2. The largest loss of life in the history of the US Navy, not during combat, occurred when the collier USS Cyclops went missing without a trace somewhere off the coast of Barbados with a crew of 309. This was on March 4, 1918.
3. G –AHNP Srar Tiger disappeared on January 30, 1948 on a flight from the Azores to Bermuda. G-AGRE Star Ariel disappeared on January 17, 1949 on a flight from Bermuda to Kingston, Jamaica. Both were Avro Tudor IV passenger aircraft operated by British South American Airways.

Algerian Megaliths near Timbuktu

An archaeologist by the name of Dr. Weisgerber rediscovered (for

t.me/ufopediapdf

westerners at least) a cromlech comprising large stones in concentric circles mounted on an elliptical tumulus, more than fifty-four square yards in area in the valley of Ain-Massin to the west of Mzab. He unearthed a workshop of flint weapons. The number of megaliths exceeds 10,000 2,000 alone in the necropolis of Mazela. Monsieur Feraud stated “At Bou-Merzoug the whole country about the springs is covered with monuments of the Celtic form, such as dolmens, demi-dolmens, menhirs, avenues, and tumuli.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Indus Valley, Pakistan

t.me/ufopediapdf

According to ancient Sanskrit texts there was a spectacular civilisation known as the Rama Empire. It thrived from 15000 – 10000 B.C. The Rama civilisation perfected flight using vimana. The vimana is an ancient flying machine powered by the use of mercury. In fact there are books and sites that show one how to build a vimana. Millions of people from this fine civilisaton were thought to have perished in a massive nuclear war with the Atlanteans. This terrible nuclear holocaust is verified in the Baghavad Gita.

Atlantis was situated in the Atlantic Ocean, some believe its territories included the Bermuda Triangle. Similarly Lemuris sank in the Pacific. Read my book Continent of Atlantis.

Mohenjo, Daro, Pakistan

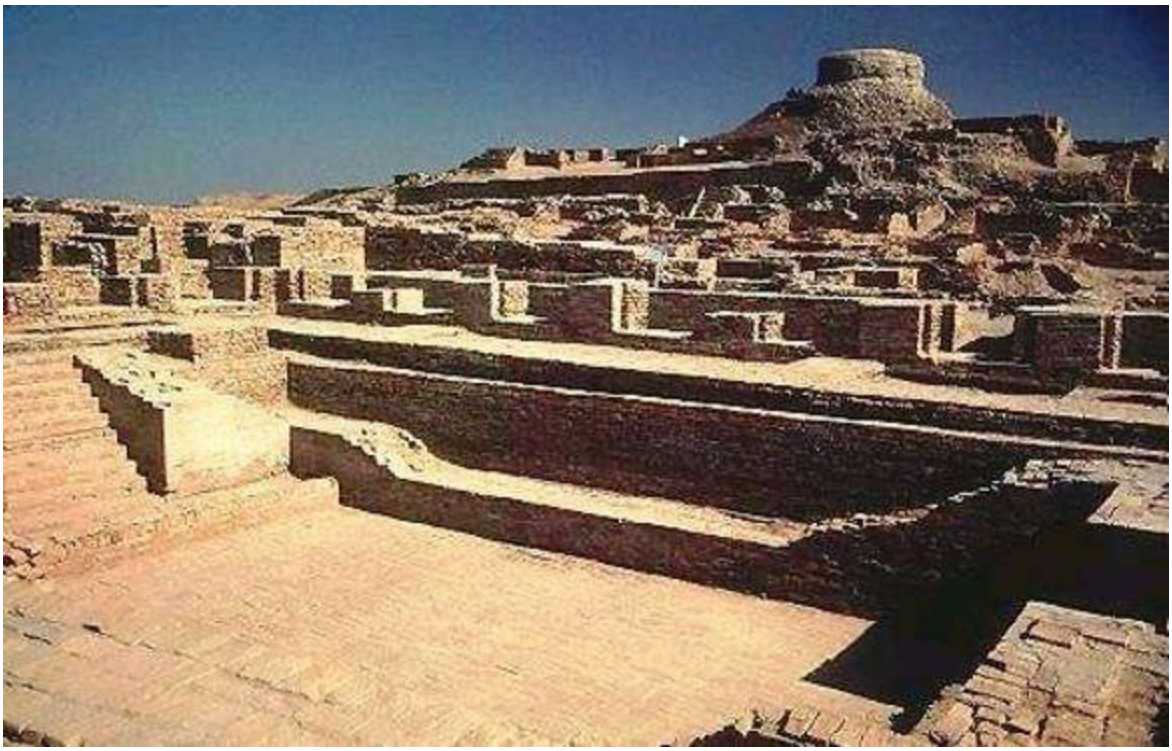
Otherwise known as the Mound of the Dead it is the site of one of

t.me/ufopediapdf

the world’s oldest but forgotten civilisations that is said to predate Sumeria. Many precious artifacts have been unearthed including statues of a priest king. The Pashupati seal discovered at the site bears the image of a seated, cross-legged and possibly ithyphallic figure surrounded by animals. The figure has been interpreted by some scholars as a yogi, and by others as a three-headed “proto-Shiva” or "Lord of Animals".

Mohenjo daro ca 2600 BC. This is the earliest known town to boast drainage, bathing, two storey dwellings and running water to individual dwellings.

t.me/ufopediapdf



Mohenjo daro, communal bath house

Seals have been found at Mohenjo-daro depicting a figure standing on its head, and another sitting cross-legged. Yoga was practiced in this fascinating city. Musicians entertained these cultured people. Spectacular wrought iron work, beautiful pottery and fascinating jewellery were discovered here. These people were a maritime nation, trading with peoples from Mesopotamia and Arabia. These people practiced Hinduism.

t.me/ufopediapdf

So far only Harappa and Mohenjo daro have been extensively excavated. What other jewels in the Indian and Pakistani crowns await us under the earth?

t.me/ufopediapdf

Both cities have a dreadful tale to tell us regarding their terrible and unexpected destruction.

Medical authorities reported an unnaturally high rate of birth defects and cancer in a three square mile region around Rajasthan, India. When scientists suggested checking for radiation levels they registered so high that the Indian government was forced to cordon off the region.

The cities of Mohenjo daro and Harappa have been excavated since around 1921. Archaeologists are deadlocked on a plausible explanation for why there are so many fused lumps of stone at both sites. It is as if an instant flash of tremendous power fused otherwise porous stone many thousands of years ago.

People were lying, unburied, in the streets of the city. Skeletons lay

t.me/ufopediapdf

in abundance in the streets, many apparently holding hands. Massive amounts of radioactive ash were detected throughout the dig. The oldest and deepest parts of the dig may be 12000 years ago. Up to half a million people seemed to have died in an instant.

Archaeologist Francis Taylor wrote about a temple inscription he had translated:

“We pray to be spared from the great light that is coming to lay ruin to the city”

t.me/ufopediapdf

Gorbovsky (in his book “Riddles of Ancient History”) wrote that tested skeletons in these regions exhibited levels of radioactivity up to fifty times greater than normal. This then presupposes they died as the result of radiation poisoning or a direct hit from a nuclear bomb.

The final proof is hundreds of clay pots that were found fused into a solid lump.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Another curious sign of an ancient nuclear war in India is a giant crater near Mumbai (formerly Bombay). The Lonar crater is 2,154-metres in diameter. It is located 400 kilometres northeast of Mumbai and is less than 50,000 years old. There is no trace of meteoric material. This is the world's only known "impact" crater in basalt. Indications of great shock (from a pressure exceeding 600,000 atmospheres) and intense, abrupt heat (indicated by basalt glass spherules) suggests that the region suffered a direct nuclear blast – but when?

With the apparent discovery of this irradiated area, parallels have been drawn to passages from the Mahabharata. One reads:

... (it was) a single projectile
Charged with all the power of the Universe.
An incandescent column of smoke and flame
As bright as the thousand suns
Rose in all its splendour...

t.me/ufopediapdf

...it was an unknown weapon,

An iron thunderbolt,

A gigantic messenger of death,

Which reduced to ashes

The entire race of the Vrishnis and the Andhakas.

...The corpses were so burned

As to be unrecognisable.

The hair and nails fell out;

Pottery broke without apparent cause,

And the birds turned white.

After a few hours

All foodstuffs were infected...

....to escape from this fire

The soldiers threw themselves in streams to wash themselves and their equipment.

Dwarka

Many famous investigators such as the Hancocks have visited the undersea city of Dwarka, off the coast of Western India. What remains of a once proud civilisation is a tiny island (the occupants have no knowledge of their ancestors) and a watery grave that may extend some five miles from the shoreline.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Underwater studies conducted by the Archeological Survey Team of India reveal a city that dates to at least the 2nd millennium BC. These studies began as early as the 1930's. The search was resumed by the Marine Archeology Unit of the National Institute of Oceanography from 1983-1990.

In the Mahabharata there is mention of a seal granted to the citizens of Dwarka as their proof of citizenship. Such a seal engraved with the image of a three-headed animal was discovered in this locale. Are we to take it that the Mahabarata is a true account of the esteemed past of those countries known today as India, Pakistan and Afghanistan?

t.me/ufopediapdf

Recent carbon dating effected by the Birbal Sahni Institute of Palaeobotany and verified by the National Geophysical Research Institute confirms that this region has been inhabited since at least 7,500 BC.

"Towards the end of the most recent Dvarpara Yuga Dwarka was

t.me/ufopediapdf

a fabulous city. It is the place of Krishna who guards it himself.”

A terrible calamity befall all three cities. Indeed there may be a connection to the downfall of all three and that connection should by all accounts be contained in the pages of the Mahabarata. To find out what calamity befell the fabulous Indus Civilisation and when read the next book in this series.

South Atlantic Anomaly

The South Atlantic Anomaly (SAA) is an area where the Earth's iner Van Allen radiation belt comes closest to the Earth’s surface dipping down to an altitude of 200 km (124 miles). This leads to an increased magnetic flux of energetic particles in this region and exposes orbiting satellites to higher-than-usual levels of radiation. The effect is caused by the non-concentricity of the Earth and its magnetic dipole, and the SAA is the near-Earth region where the Earth’s magnetic field is weakest relative to an idealized Earth-

t.me/ufopediapdf

centered dipole field.

Other regions include Hamakulia Volcano in Hawaii, and the "Devil's Sea" near Japan. Oddly the latter has precisely the same effect as the Bermuda Triangle. Hundreds of planes and ships have disappeared in this region.

Returning to the origins of our planet.

Sumerian writing tells us that the first gods were named Lahmu and Lahamu. Much later a god named Anu enters the scene. We shall return to this extremely important god later.

How was Earth created?

According to the Enuma Elish:

t.me/ufopediapdf

He (Marduk) made a net to enclose the inward parts of Tiamat.

The four winds he stationed so that nothing of her might escape.

He created the evil wind, and the tempest, and the hurricane.

He sent forth the winds which he had created, the seven of them.

To disturb the inward parts of Tiamat, they followed after him.

I have skipped a great deal of the Enuma Elish (please read Arrival of the Anunnaki if you want the full script).

t.me/ufopediapdf

Marduk is a god. When his grandfather Anu granted him rulership of our planet for a very ‘short time’ during the Ascension of Aries in our skies he had the Enuma Elish rewritten. He interposed his name in place of our own sun’s twin Star. I shall not explain further. The proof is in my previous books especially Arrival of

t.me/ufopediapdf

the Anunnaki. For those of you who have not read this book please accept the following as an explanation for the origin of Earth.

Science Fact

For many years it was widely accepted that our solar system

t.me/ufopediapdf

contained nine planets. When Pluto exhibited erratic behaviour cosmologists preferred to downgrade it rather than have ‘future egg on their faces’. Pluto is in fact a satellite of another Star that is the twin of our sun

This Star has been called Planet X, Wormwood and Nibiru. Once again if you are unfamiliar with these names please read my book Arrival of the Anunnaki. For hundreds of thousands of years we were and still are slaves of the Anunnaki giants. They genetically engineered humans to mine gold and fight bloody wars.

Suffice it to say astrophysicists have proven there is a second Star that is our sun’s twin. Of course the two Stars cannot be close to each other. We would need Factor 1000000 suntan.

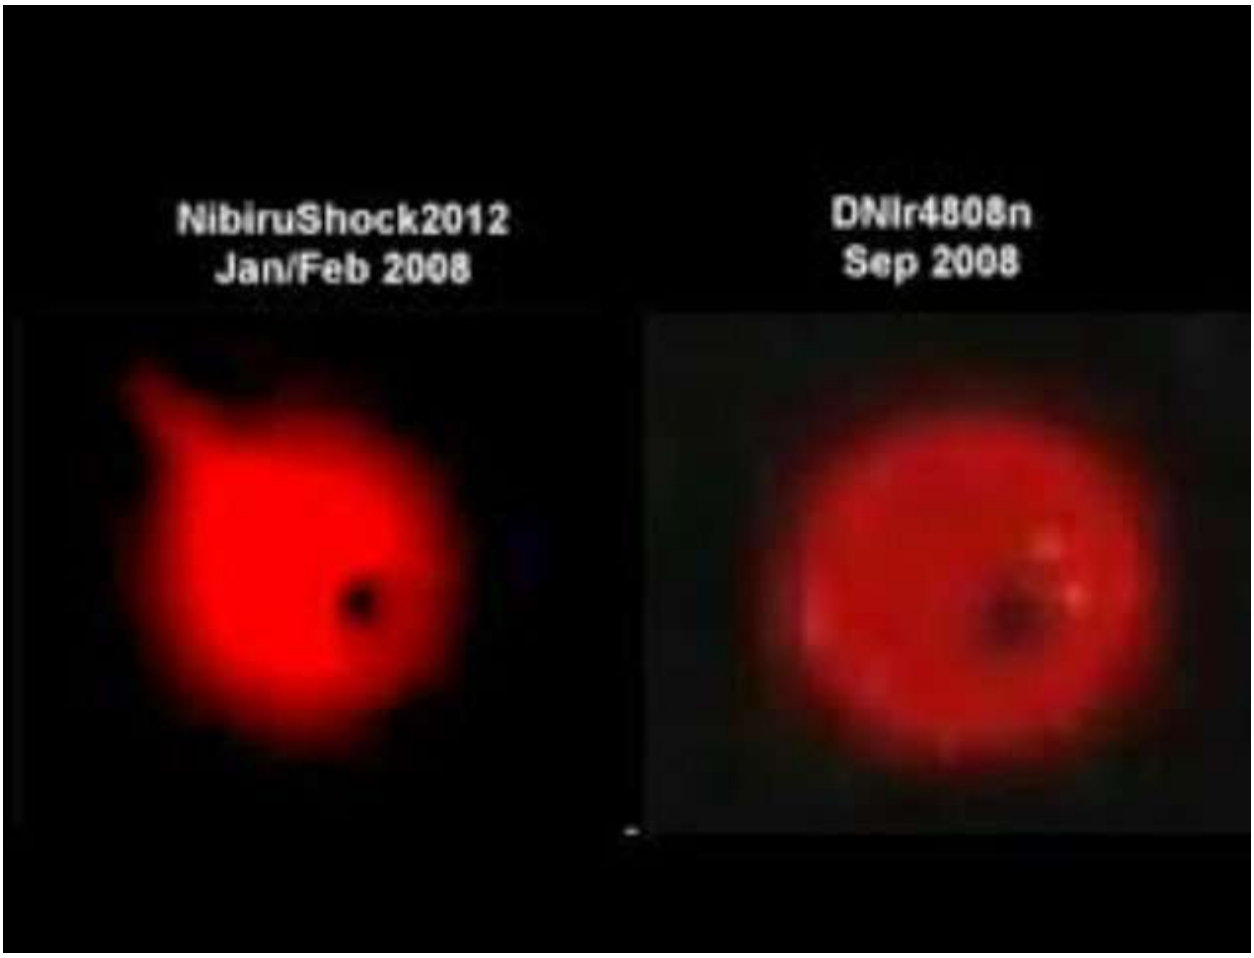
The two Stars orbit in a figure of eight pattern (serpent-like). Every 3600 years or so they reach their perigee (closest distance to each other).

t.me/ufopediapdf

Quote from space.com, August 26th 2013:

“Nemesis (Nibiru) is a theoretical dwarf Star thought to be a companion to our sun. The theory was postulated to explain a perceived cycle of mass extinctions in Earth's history. Scientists speculated that such a Star could affect the orbit of objects in the far outer solar system, sending them on a collision course with Earth”.

t.me/ufopediapdf



Nibiru, Nemesis, Planet X, Wormwood is thought to be a brown dwarf. It is the sun's companion. There is strong evidence to show that when the two Stars approach each other it may spell trouble for our planet. Anyone remember the Great Flood?

When the twin stars approach each other a cosmic cataclysm is

t.me/ufopediapdf

extremely probable. The gravitational pull of two Stars in our solar system is sufficient to affect the orbits of the planets. But we don't care about the other planets, only Earth.

Let us call a 3600 year period a SAR. The Sumerians did. They spent long periods observing the 'heavens' searching for the return of Nibiru. Sumerians were told that their gods had originated from Nibiru. Who told them? The gods themselves. Which brings me smartly back to Anu.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Anu was the boss. He ruled from Nibiru and visited Earth (Ki to Sumerians) every 3600 years or so. His eldest sons were given our planet as a present. İn return they gave Anu and his spouse Antu all the gold they could carry in a big space basket. No really that is why the ‘gods’ spent so much time on Ki. They were raping our

t.me/ufopediapdf

planet.

Enki (real name Ea) was granted rulership of all that lay beneath the ground and the oceans. His younger brother Enlil ruled the air, airways (radio transmission) and the land. Despite Enki being older Enlil was heir to the throne of Nibiru.

Nibiru is commonly thought to be an inhabited planet that orbits our sun's twin Star. Recently the Star itself has been given the name Nibiru. For a full explanation I beseech you to read Arrival of the Anunnaki as many readers already have.

In my book Nibiru Destroyer of Earth I explain how imminent disaster is for our planet. Hurtling towards us at 30,000 miles per hour is a planet larger than Jupiter.

We shall return to the present after the remaining evidence from

t.me/ufopediapdf

the Epic of Creation.

Tiamat was originally the third planet from our sun. The Earth did not exist. Marduk, Wormwood or Nibiru is reference to the sun's twin Star and its orbiting planetary system:

As Tiamat opened her mouth to its full extent,
He (Marduk) drove in the evil wind.
The terrible winds filled her belly, her courage was taken from her and her mouth she opened wide. He seized the spear and burst her belly. He severed her inward parts, he pierced her heart. He overcame her and cut off her life. He cast down her body and stood upon it.

When he had slain Tiamat her host was scattered…..
Kingu was exalted over all other warriors.

I have no intention of boring you with the enormously long

t.me/ufopediapdf

Enuma Elish. Suffice it to say Tiamat was battered by the brown dwarf Star system racing around our sun as it accelerated to break free of our sun's gravitational pull. In the process 'Nibiru' dragged its own planetary system in its wake as well as comets, electrical discharge, storms, etc

This cosmic cataclysm occurred around fourteen billion years ago.

Tiamat was struck by seven heavenly bodies. It was ripped asunder (mouth she opened wide). Most of Tiamat (burst her belly) lies as the asteroid belt between Jupiter and Mars (the Firmament in Genesis). The much smaller chunk that remains to this day we call Earth.

One of the satellites that remained behind after this cosmic event was Kingu (we call it the Moon).

t.me/ufopediapdf

Unbelievable? Then why are the American Military building a vast underground network that stretches from the west to the east coast of the USA? Why are so many telescopes in space turned towards a particular celestial object that may be seen in the Southern Hemisphere right next to our sun? Nibiru is due to come closest to Earth in the year 2045. The elite want to be secure miles underground whlst the population fries.

We rely heavily on scientific proof these days. When scientific fact is not available there is a lazy tendency to return to religious teachings or Darwinism. The major world religions are relatively young and each mimics the other in many ways. Despite the fact that Muslims, Jews and Christians are thought to have vastly differing belief systems it is merely the pomp and ceremony that separates them. The answer to how life was formed on Earth must be found in ancient knowledge (original religion) backed by modern science.

t.me/ufopediapdf

First the Modern Science explanation

"We want to know where we were born. If we can figure out in what part of the galaxy the sun formed, we can constrain conditions on the early solar system. That could help us understand why we are here," said Ivan Ramirez of The University of Texas.

2500 light years from Earth are three planets orbiting a brown dwarf. This Star is almost identical to our sun and is approximately

t.me/ufopediapdf

the same age. Visit Daily Mail Science page.

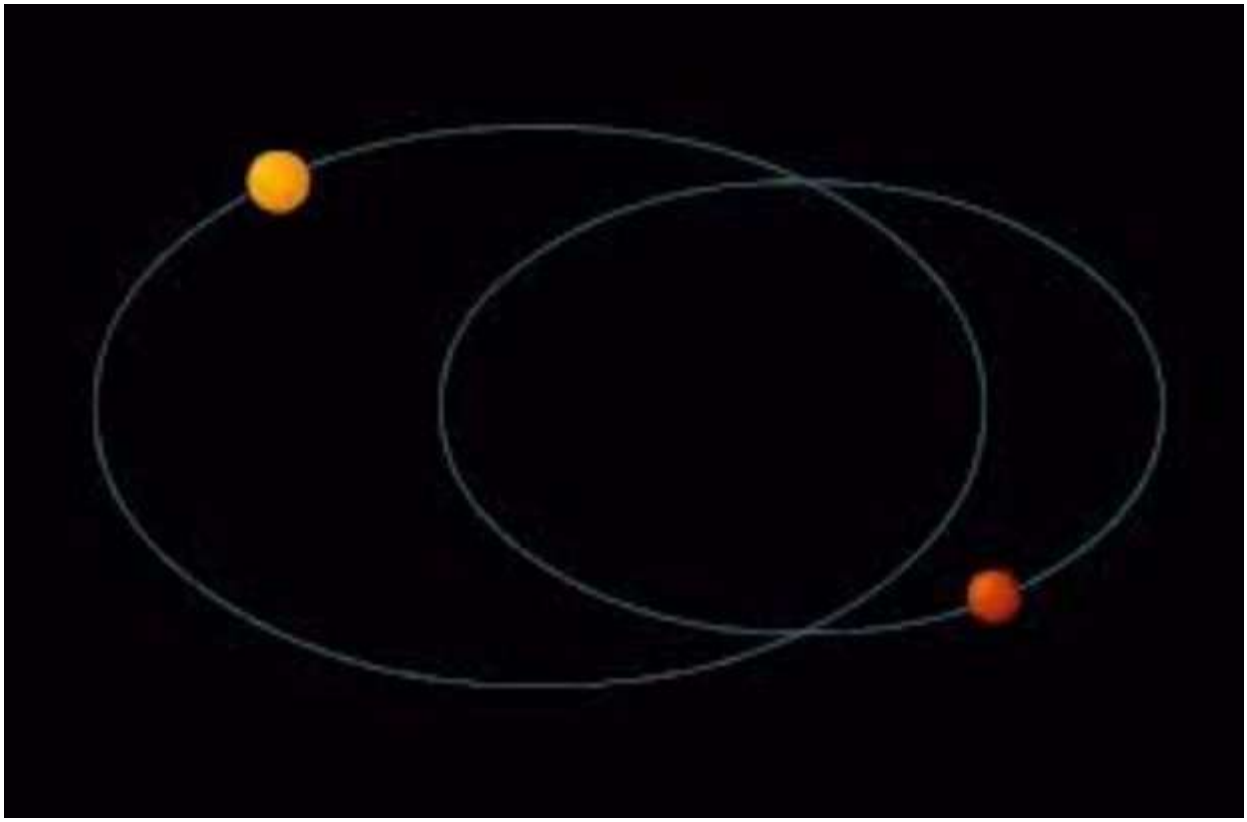
One planet is a third of the mass of Jupiter and as it orbits its sun every 7 days it is so hot it appears to glow red with ‘fiery wings’.

This symbol is found in ancient archaelogical sites:

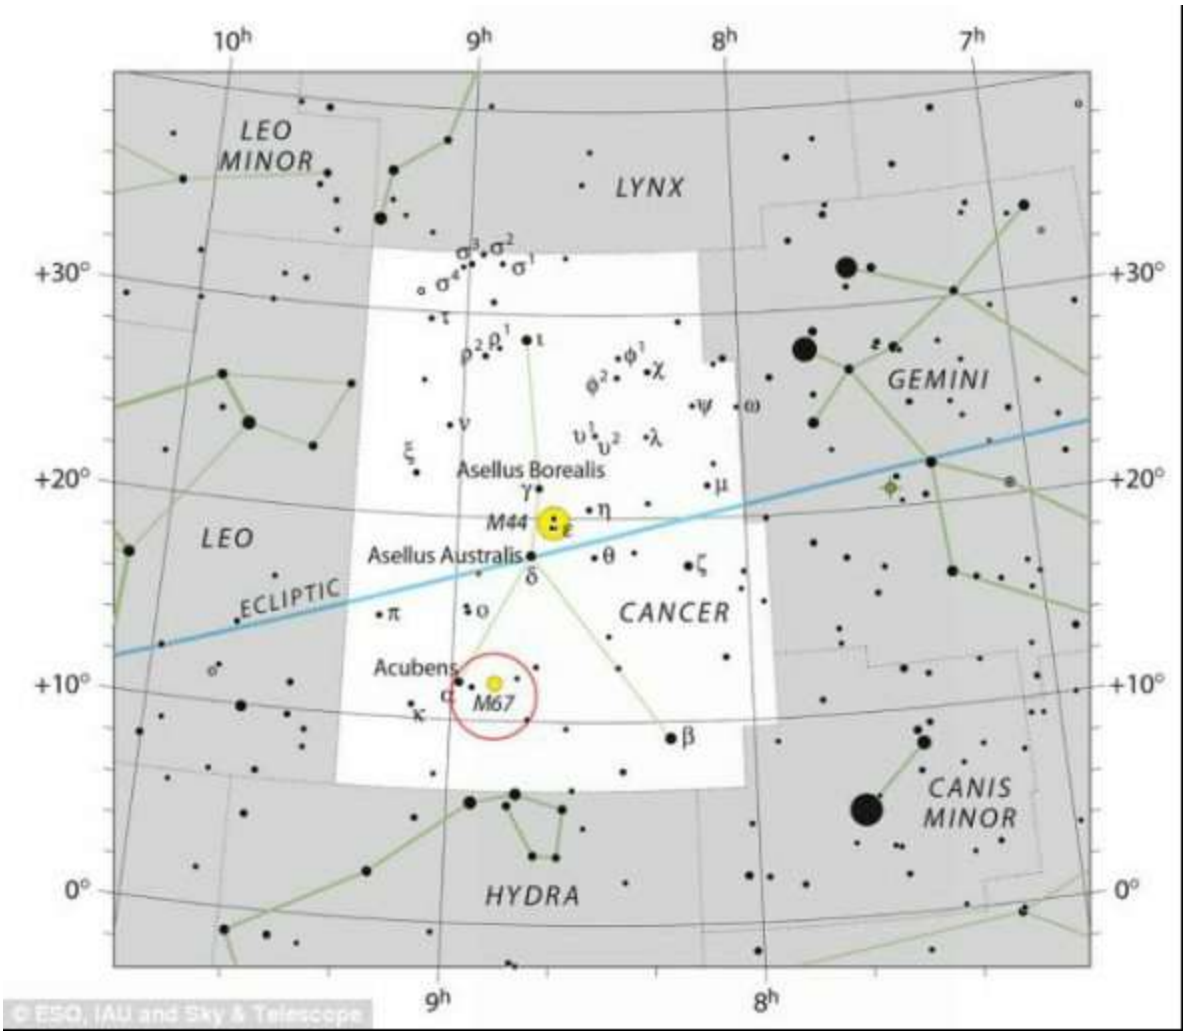
Nibiru is thought to return to our solar system every 3600 years. If this brown dwarf and its planetary system are indeed Nibiru then the time period is approximately correct.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Our sun and Nibiru orbit in a figure of eight around each other, much like a serpent.



t.me/ufopediapdf



Astronomers have used ESO's HARPS planet hunter in Chile, along with other telescopes around the world, to discover three planets orbiting a Star in the cluster Messier 67. Pictured below is an artist's impression of a planet with a sun like our own.

t.me/ufopediapdf

This Star is the first ever found that was created in the same "birth cluster" as our sun.

t.me/ufopediapdf

The chemical composition of this system is largely silicon, aluminium, magnesium and calcium. The elements and ratios are indeed similar to those found in our planet. Therefore, astronomers believe that one of the planets may be capable of supporting life.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Nibiru returns periodically dragging planets, satellites and space debris in its wake. It has brought devastation to our system on many occasions. One such occasion was recorded as the Great Flood. Others may have signalled the demise of Lemuris and Atlantis. Read my books on this subject. The reason astronomers are so worried about the increased frequency of comets recently is because they know the sun's twin Star has returned to our solar

t.me/ufopediapdf

system.

As long ago as 1846 astronomers spotted Uranus behaving erratically. Uranus is unusual in that its spin axis is inclined by 98 degrees compared to its orbital plane around the sun. This is far more pronounced than other planets, such as Jupiter (3 degrees), Earth (23 degrees), or Saturn and Neptune (29 degrees). Uranus is, in effect, spinning on its side. Pluto has an erratic orbit that takes it around and between Neptune and Uranus.

July 2013, a report stated:
Neptune has a new moon, and its existence is an enigma. The object, known for now as S/2004 N1, is the first Neptunian moon to be found in a decade. Its diminutive size raises questions as to how it survived the chaos thought to have created the giant planet's other moons.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Uranus’s highly tilted axis makes it something of an oddball in our Solar System. The accepted wisdom is that Uranus was knocked on its side by a single large impact, but new research revises our theories of how Uranus became so tilted and also solves fresh mysteries about the position and orbits of its moons.

By using simulations of planetary formation and collisions, it appears that early in its life Uranus experienced a succession of small punches instead of a single knock-out blow. This research has important ramifications on our theories of giant planet formation.

Most of the planets in our solar system spin on their respective axes "counterclockwise." But Venus and Uranus spin "clockwise" (if viewed from above Earth's North Pole, down onto the plane). Uranus is tipped at 90 degrees, spinning contrary to all of the other planets. Pluto is also tipped over, with an orbit that is mostly

outside of the plane used by the other bodies orbiting the sun.

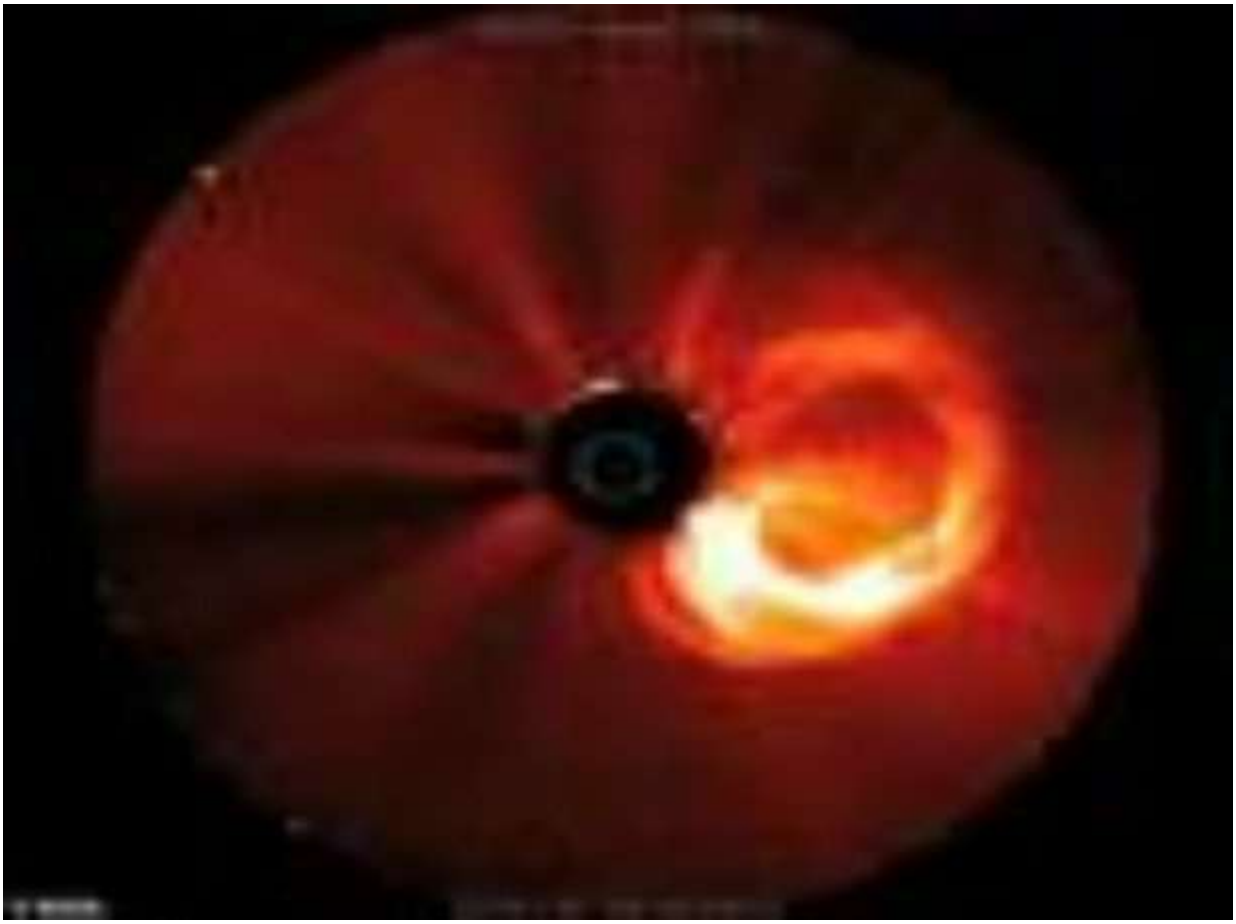
Do we not find these facts strange?

My hypothesis is that our planet is the remnant of a far bigger planet (Tiamat) from a collision perhaps 14 billion years ago. The Pacific Ocean is testament to this as it appears as a yawning hole on one side of Earth where the remainder of Tiamat shouild be.

Microscopic lifeforms were most probably brought toTiamat/ Earth during the collision with not one but seven heavenly bodies. Now we have a reason for why there are a myriad lifeforms on Earth. One planet is provided with a finite number of elements yet collectively a group of heavenly bodies would certainly contain a much greater variety of elements. Our planet was blessed with seven times the average number of elements granted to one planet

t.me/ufopediapdf

This ‘bath’ of chemicals churning in super heated oceans goes a long way to support scientist’s origin of life on Earth. In particular it answers the question “why is there so much diverse life on our planet?”.



Recently astronomers have agreed that there must be another heavenly body way out there that cannot be seen. Not that it is too far away but that it does not reflect light easily. Hence they believe it to be a brown dwarf.

t.me/ufopediapdf

The solar system is now thought to have two Stars: "the companion to our sun is a brown dwarf Star or massive planet of mass between two and six times the mass of Jupiter".

A brown dwarf is a Star too small to sustain the nuclear fusion that powers our sun and so is ‘relatively’ cool.

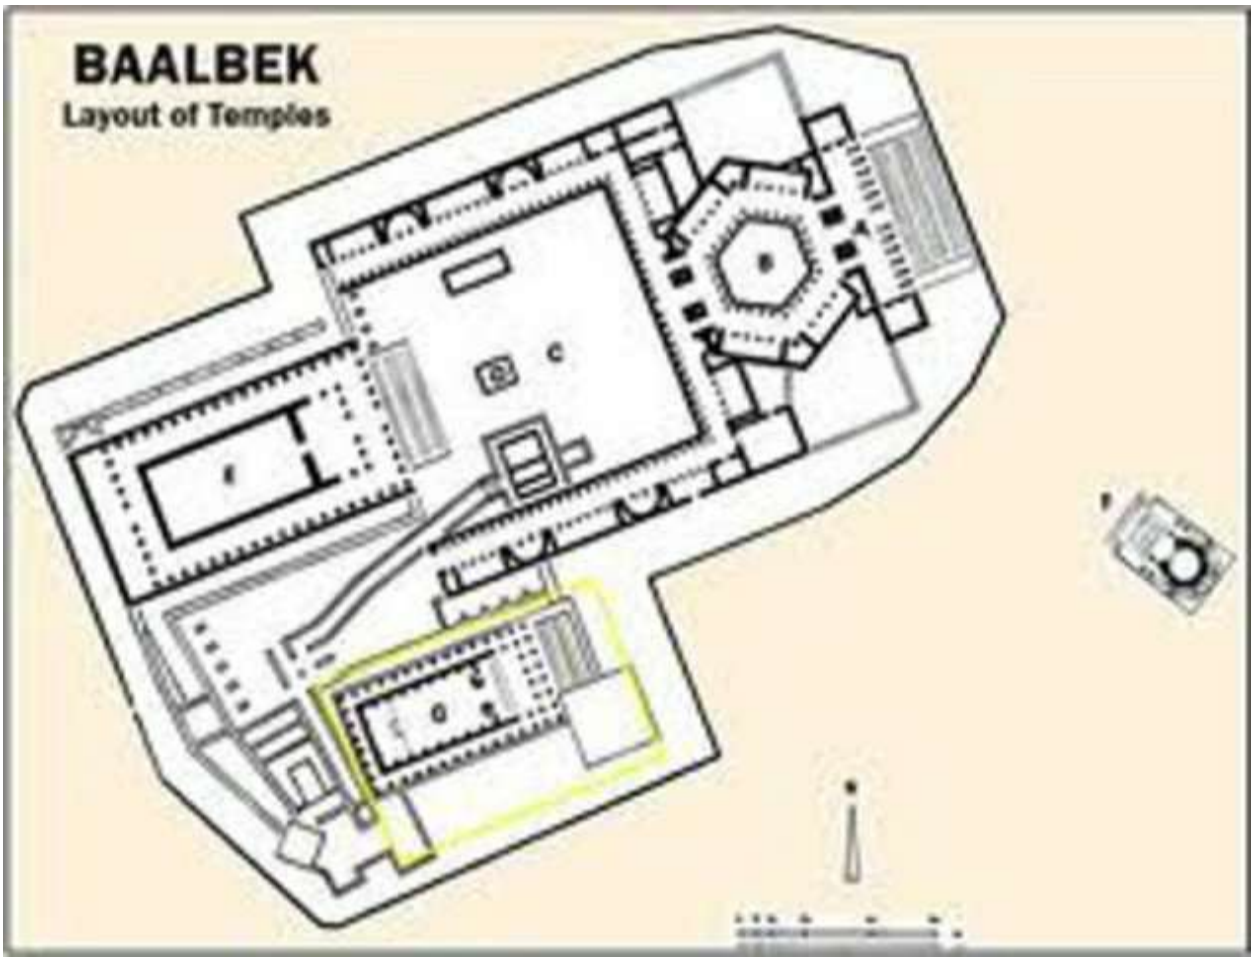
Baalbek, Lebanon

t.me/ufopediapdf



This site, perched on a hillside, comprises massive stone blocks hewn from a quarry many miles away. Each weighs between 800-1200 tones and is perfectly fitted together. How were the rocks manufactured to be so perfectly rectangular and how were they transported over many miles? Who was capable of piecing them together like a perfect jigsaw and for what purpose were they erected at Baalbek?

t.me/ufopediapdf

In Roman times this sacred site was known as Heliopolis or City of the sun, dedicated to the god Jupiter. Previously the Greeks had built a temple on the same site, dedicated to Zeus.

However, the construction dates much further back in time and is mentioned in the Epic of Gilgamesh (dating to around 4000 B.C.).

Baalbek may once have served as a landing pad for space travelers

The ruler of Ur Gilgamesh sought immortality as he was a demigod. His mother, hersefl a deity, could not grant him immortality. Instead she specified a sacred place where the gods rose to heaven. Gilgamesh and his companion, Enkidu travelled to this place – Baalbek. Upon their arrival at night time they witnessed a massive fire-breathing dragon emerging from the bowels of the earth. They were justifiably frightened and fled. Is it possible they had seen a spacecraft being launched to either the moon or Mars, over 6000 years ago?

Reincarnation

The strange story of Shanti Deva seems to prove that we are born many times upon this planet. In 1930 this four year old from Delhi told her parents that as a mother of three named Ludgi she had died in childbirth in Muttra - many miles away. Her persistence aroused the curiosity of a local guru who suggested embarking on the long journey to Muttra. When the small party arrived in the tiny village of Muttra Shanti began to speak in the local dialect. She immediately recognised two children but was oblivious to their younger sister – the same child who had survived Ludgi. Conversation with Ludgi's husband revealed information that only he and his wife could have known. If you doubt the validity of this story please investigate this and:

No place for gnome

As recently as 2008 an entire village in Salta, Argentina testified to the presence of a gnome-like creature that skipped and hopped in the shadows of the local graveyard. Authorities tried to discredit the testimony of the entire village until a youth snapped a photograph of the elusive scamp on his cellular phone.

Run into the ground

The Englishman shoemaker James Worson was always game for a wager. In 1873 his friends bet him he couldn't run the twenty miles from Leamington to Coventry. On September 3rd he set out to prove them wrong. To ensure he didn't cheat the same friends *Hammerson Burns and Barham Wise) followed him step for step in the comfort of a horse drawn cart. Burns had about his person a camera to film the eventual success of Worson.

Perhaps half way between the two towns James pitched forwards with an animal like scream then promptly vanished leaving his final footprints in the middle of the road but little else. The photograph below was taken by Burns after James vanished never to be found.

Astrology

Astrology has been derided in recent times in favour of astronomy. Astronomers are able to see the Stars and planets and Galaxies and thanks to Sir Isaac Newton can plot the Precession of the Equinoxes.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Precession of the Equinoxes

The precession of the equinoxes is caused by the gravitational forces of the Sun and the Moon. Think of the Earth as a top spinning on its axis. Our planet wobbles just like the spinning top and the axis alters over time.

The Earth is not a perfect sphere but an oblate spheroid. If the Earth were a perfect sphere, there would be no precession. Equatorial diameter is 43 kilometers larger than the polar diameter. The applied forces of the sun and the Moon are almost perpendicular to the axis of rotation of the Earth.

The Earth is tilted on its axis. Therefore during much of the year the half of this bulge that is closest to the sun is not centred. The other half is off-centre on the opposite side. Since gravity decreases with distance the gravitational pull on the closer half is stronger. This imposes a torque on the Earth owing to the sun

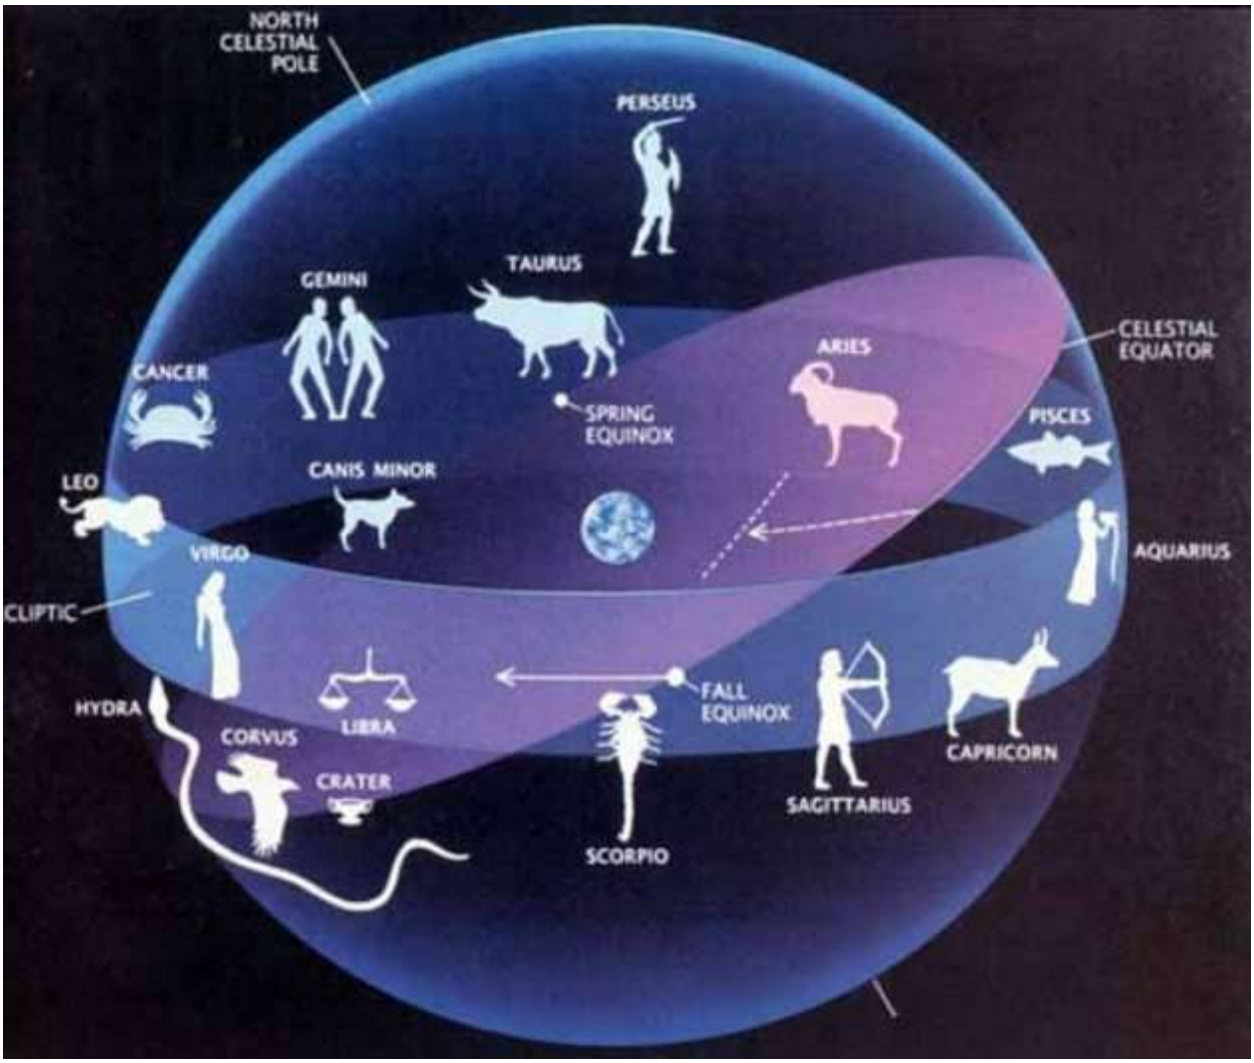
influencing one side of the Earth far more than the other. The axis of this torque is roughly perpendicular to the axis of the Earth's rotation. Therefore the axis of rotation precesses.

This average torque is perpendicular to the direction in which the rotation axis is tilted away from the ecliptic pole, so that it does not change the axial tilt itself. The magnitude of the torque from the sun (or the moon) varies with the gravitational object's alignment with the Earth's spin axis and approaches zero when it is orthogonal.

t.me/ufopediapdf



The effect of the sun and the Moon on our planet is called the lunisolar precession.

Cosmologists have proven that not only do planets orbit the Sun but our entire Solar System gyrates in a spherical manner as it is

t.me/ufopediapdf

influenced by gravitational forces from larger heavenly bodies. The Sun and its respective planets orbit another Star system which in turn orbits another and so on. In this manner our tiny Earth is dragged around the outskirts of the Milky Way. It is noe known that we complete a full orbit of the Milky Way every 25,700 years or so.

The Age of Aquarius is especially important as our planet and all the ‘energy bodies’ that exist on Earth are receiving a ‘supercharge’ of Universal Energy. In short we are leaving the ‘Cosmic Winter’ behind and entering the ‘Cosmic Spring’. The Maya knew this as did many of our ancestors throughout the world. The Mayan Prediction (incorrectly interpreted) states that in 2012 the planet enters a New Age. Beware listening to New Age Prophecy as much is self-styled aggrandisement. There are perhaps beings from our Galaxy or our future that have arrived in our skies at this auspicious time. There certainly is testimony from many people to contact with E.B.E.s – many of whom are very similar in appearance to humans. I am asking that you be careful before you believe the many ‘trance state’ messages that are ‘being received’ by self-styled mediums.

In my series of books the Glory of God I detail secrets of the universe, spiritual understanding and a means by which we may all ascend to higher dimensions. This series really does tap into the Power of the Divine.

Dawning of a New Age

We are entering the Age of Aquarius as we leave the Age of Pisces. The Age of Pisces coincidentally began around the time of the birth of Esau (Jesus Christ). According to astrological mysticism, there will be unusual harmony and understanding in the world. Those who follow that belief system see it as a turning point in human consciousness in which balance is restored by consciously moving beyond the physical body.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Nasa is plotting the return of our twin ‘Sun’ and its orbiting planets. Observatories around and above our planet are scanning the heavens for extremely important data regarding the Red Planet that creates cosmic havoc every 3600 years as it plunges through our Solar System. The USA has bled the country dry to fashion a vast underground complex that stretches from the West to the East coast. When the expected cataclysm occurs the elite will live in this incredible complex whilst the remaining billions perish.

Of course this is the reason for all of the ancient ‘observatories’ from Stonehenge to Macchu Picchu. They were created by our ancient ‘ancestors’ to plot the Pregression of the Equinoxes and predict the return of our binary Star system.

Natural disasters occur in cycles and these cycles correspond to the reappearance of Nibiru as detailed in the ancient Sumerian

t.me/ufopediapdf

Scriptures. I have written extensively on this subject. Please read my books especially Prison Planet Earth.

Why are you a Christian, Jew, Hindu, Sikh, Atheist or Muslim. Most people state that it is their belief yet in over 90% of cases it is because your parents reared you to believe what they themselves were reared to believe. Whereas none of the belief systems are entirely wrong there are fundamental flaws in all belief systems especially if the believer has accepted their doctrine at face value. The Truth lies in all religions and also in the belief that we are all aspects of the One. In fact we believe we are the physical body when the truth is we inhabit the body for a lifetime. Think of the physical body as an overcoat. When it wears out we simply discard it in favour of something better. This process is known as death. The majority of humans avoid the subject of death until they finally must face the reality.

Physicists have informed us that our bodies are merely clumps of

t.me/ufopediapdf

atoms. These atoms are so far away from each other that if one was the size of an orange its closest neighbour would be a football field away. Pursuing this analogy the space inside an atom is so vast that the entire Universe would fit neatly inside one atom should it be possible to shrink the Universe to an infinitely dense particle. Superstring theorists have envisaged over eleven dimensions all co-existing with an infinite number of Universes.

Because we can perceive light in the visible spectrum and our hearing range is equally impaired humans are unable to ‘see’ beings that are present in the same space and time as we exist. Animals on the other hand do see such beings and are affected by their presence.

Shugborough Inscription

For all to see in the grounds of Shugborough Hall in Staffordshire England is a stone carving of the 18th-century Shepherd's Monument. Above it is a mirror image of Nichloas Poussin’s painting, the Shepherds of Arcadia. The letters O U O S V A V V are clearly visible between the letters D and M. Nobody has ever been able to explain this cypher. Is it of religious significance or something more secular. Is it a personal message from Poussin to a secret admirer ot colleague?

t.me/ufopediapdf

The monument was built sometime between 1748 and 1763, commissioned by Thoas Anson, paid for by his brother, Admiral George Anson and fashioned by the Flemish sculptor Peter Scheemakers. The relief copy of the Poussin painting is contained within a rustic arch, and shows a woman and three shepherds, two of whom are pointing to a tomb. On the tomb is carved the Latin text Et in Arcadia ego ("I am also in Arcadia" or "I am, even in Arcadia"). The carving displays a number of small alterations from the original painting, and an extra sarcophagus has been placed on top of the main tomb. Above the Poussin scene are two stone heads, one showing a smiling bald-headed man, the other bearing a likeness to the goat-horned Greek god Pan.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Below the relief carving on the monument, an unknown craftsman carved the mysterious eight letters, contained within the letters 'D M'. On Roman tombs, the letters 'D M' commonly stood for Diis Manibus, meaning "dedicated to the shades". Shades are a little like ghosts.

Andrew Basiago and Laura Eisenhower

t.me/ufopediapdf

t.me/ufopediapdf

Laura Eisenhower is the great granddaughter of Dwight D Eisenhower. Andrew and Laura were placed in a black ops program when they were young children.

Andrew Basiago claims to have been entered into the DARPA time

t.me/ufopediapdf

travel Project Pegasus between the years of 1968 and 1972. Initially the ‘trips’ were between two CIA facilities, based in New Jersey and El Segundo California.

Many years earlier the genius Nikola Tesla had been murdered by CIA operatives. His many inventions have been used by the US Shadow Government ever since. HAARP originated with Tesla (although he wished to use his idea to provide the world with free energy).
One of his other amazing inventions was a means to travel instantly through space or time.

After Tesla’s murder in January 1943 his documents and equipment were seized by the CIA. One document was a working schematic for a teleportation machine. Basiago states that “radiant energy” is utilised to power the time/teleportation apparatus. The machine forms a “shimmering curtain” between two elliptical booms.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Radiant energy is pervasive throughout the universe. It is unlimited and therefore free energy. One of its abilities is to bend time-space. The general public are unaware of the possible uses of this free energy as the oil barons and US Military have no intention of providing the world with it.

Basiago claimed to have passed through a curtain of energy into a vortal tunnel. The process would seem tol ast around forty five seconds whereupon he would find himself at his destination. He made hundreds of trips some off planet.

Other experimental teleportation devices included a plasma confinement chamber in New Jersey and a room in El Segundo, California used for the jumps. He describes a form of holographic technology that allowed him and other children to travel physically and virtually.

Below is a photograph taken in Gettysburg in 1863 when Lincoln addressed the nation.

Basiago claims to be the boy featured prominently in the foreground.

t.me/ufopediapdf

"I had been dressed in period clothing, as a Union bugle boy," he said. "I attracted so much attention at the Lincoln speech site at Gettysburg -- wearing over-sized men's street shoes -- that I left the area around the dais and walked about 100 paces over to where I was photographed in the Josephine Cogg image of Lincoln at Gettysburg."

Basiago claims on several occasions he was sent back in time to Ford's Theatre the night of Lincoln's assassination.

"I did not, however, witness the assassination," he said. "Once, I was on the theater level when he was shot and I heard the shot followed by a great commotion that arose from the crowd. It was terrible to hear."

“As these visits began to accumulate I twice ran into myself during two different visits."

t.me/ufopediapdf

These are astounding claims yet Basiago goes on to say that there is a human colony on Mars.

Andrew and Laura both agree that the Black Ops Budget is in part subsidising travel to and from Mars and the stockpiling of provisions and creaton of cities on that planet. Basiago claims he was sent to Mars on several occasions.

Michael Relfe: Mars colony eyewitness Michael Relfe is a whistleblower and a former member of the U.S. armed forces who in 1976 was recruited as a permanent member of the secret Mars colony. In 1976 (Earth time), he teleported to the Mars colony and spent 20 years as a permanent member of its staff. In 1996 (Mars time), Mr. Relfe was time-traveled via teleportation and age-regressed 20 years, landing back at a U.S. military base in 1976 (Earth time). Mr. Relfe then served six years in the U.S. military on Earth before being honorably discharged in 1982.

t.me/ufopediapdf

One of the other time travellers in Basiago's class was Barry Soetoro. We know Barry today as Barack Obama.

Alfred Webre, a lawyer specializing in exopolitics (political implications surrounding an extraterrestrial presence on Earth) substantiates Basiago's claims. Webre insists teleportation and time

t.me/ufopediapdf

travel have been practiced on human ‘volunteers’ for at least 40 years.

"It's an inexpensive, environmentally friendly means of transportation. The Defense Department has had it for 40 years and Donald Rumsfeld used it to transport troops to battle."

It is a positive thing for the human race to rear colonies on other planets. Earth has suffered multiple cataclysms in the past. We should protect the human genome by placing human settlements on other celestial bodies. “Yet, when secrecy surrounding such projects tempts government to rob the free will of individuals, and excludes humanity from debating a subject that implicates the whole human future, and diverts the destiny of a planet to serve an off-planet agenda, the conscience of a free people requires that such projects be undertaken in the bright sunshine of public scrutiny, not within the dark corridors of the military-industrial complex”. – Andrew D. Basiago and Laura Magdalene Eisenhower, 2010

Teleportation and Levitation

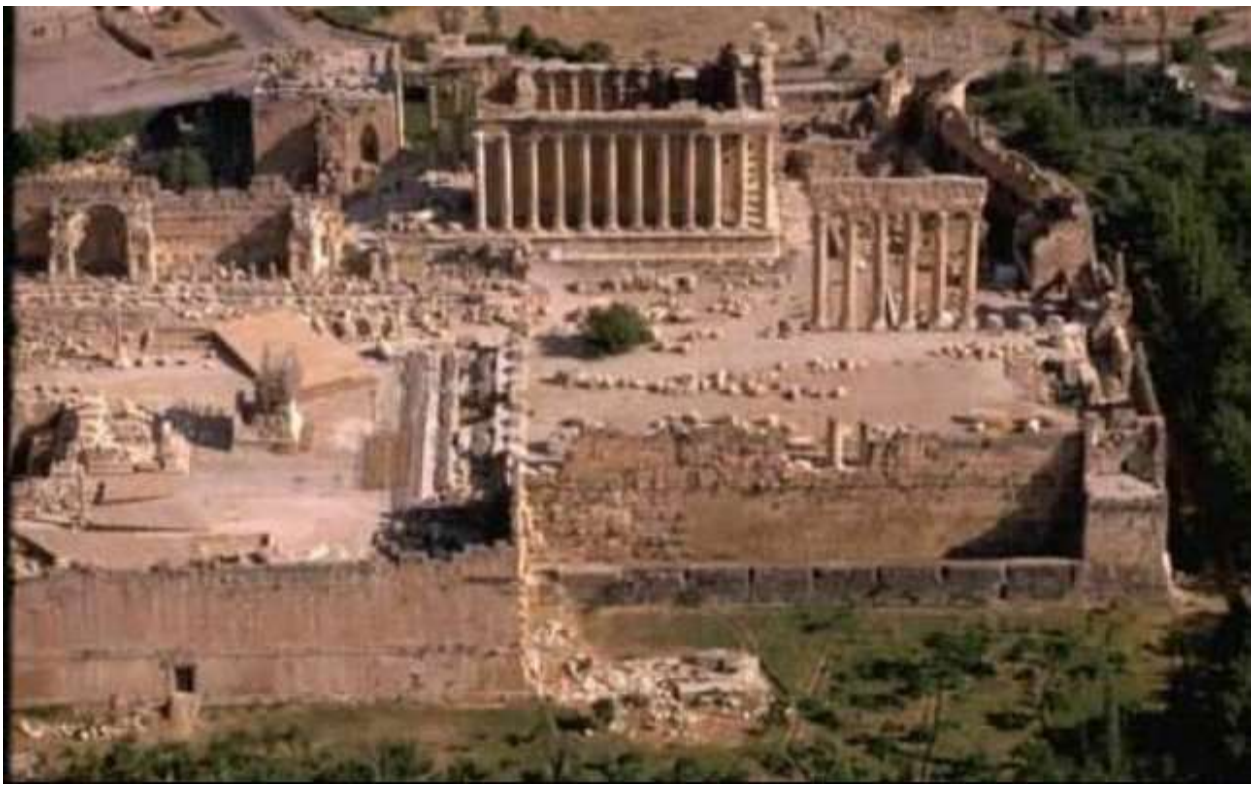
It is now widely accepted amongst mainstream science and archaeology that the Egyptians could not possibly have erected the pyramids using slave labour alone. In fact as we Google Earth our way around the planet pyramids and ziggurats pop up on almost every Continent.

So how were all the major ancient sites constructed (please research the fantastic statues and cities almost forgotten in South East Asia – places such as Cambodia)?

The current theory involves both levitation and teleportation.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Levitation is the raising of an object (often through the power of the mind) which ordinarily would not be possible by such means (eg a pen with sheer will) or is too darned heavy to ascend with even the most powerful pieces of kit. Take for example the site at Baalbek in Lebanon:



This site was first mentioned in the Epic of Gilgamesh (if you

t.me/ufopediapdf

don’t know what this is read Arrival of the Anunnaki by Gary G Margrove).

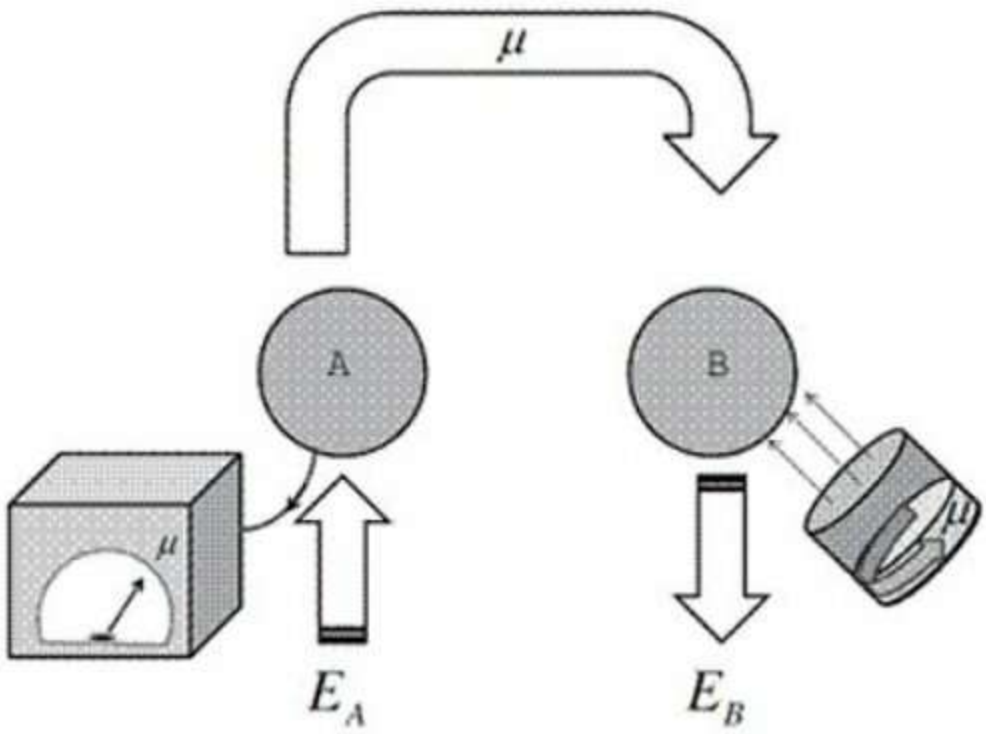
The smallest foundation Stones at Baalbek weigh over 25 tons each.

No machine on Earth is able to lift or carry even one of these stones let alone transport the entire (some say space craft landing site) a distance of 25 miles from the quarry from which they occurred naturally. So perhaps levitation or even teleportation is the only possible solution. What is teleportation? Perhaps you have seen old episodes of Star Trek?

Teleportation is a ‘hypothetical’ mode of instantaneous transportation; matter is dematerialized at one place and recreated at another. Andrew Basiago will tell you it is not hypothetical.

t.me/ufopediapdf



Teleportation's As Easy As 1-2-3!

Over five years ago, scientists succeeded in teleporting information. Unfortunately, the advance failed to bring us any closer to the Star Trek future we all dream of. Now, researchers in Japan have used the same principles to prove that energy can be

t.me/ufopediapdf

teleported in the same fashion as information. Rather than just hastening the dawn of quantum computing, this development could lead to practical, significant changes in energy distribution.

According to the theory, developed by Masahiro Hotta of Tohoku University, Japan, a series of entangled particles could be stretched across an infinite amount of space. By inducing an energy change in one of the particles, the other entangled particles would change as well. Eventually, to preserve conservation of energy, the original particle would be destroyed, with its energy passing to the final particle in the chain. Thus, the energy has been teleported from one particle to another. Just like Star Trek. Our bodies are after all a form of energy.

t.me/ufopediapdf

In 1995 a group of scientists from the J. Craig Venter Institute, JCVI, launched a project “minimal genome“, whose goal was to leave in the genetic code only the essential information for the existence of a living organism. The research was based on the bacterium Mycoplasma genitalium, which at that time had the smallest genome of all known (482 genes). In 1999, Venter reduced the number of genes to 382, creating a “semi-synthetic” Mycoplasma laboratorium.

t.me/ufopediapdf

In 2003, together with colleagues from JCVI he announced to have managed to transform one type of bacteria (M. capricolum) to another (M. mycoides) using genome transplant, and in 2008 an organism with a fully synthetic genome was created after a second attempt.

Last year, Craig Venter published a new book Life at the Speed of Light: From the Double Helix to the Dawn of Digital Life, in which not only he describes the history of synthetic biology but also a completely new concept of "biological teleportation".

Venter argues that the information contained in the DNA can be digitized and transmitted over cable or via electromagnetic waves, and on the other end a special machine would synthesize oligonucleotides (short DNA fragments) and a robot

would assemble the DNA completely identical to the original. Such a “teleportation” promises significant savings of resources: in fact, to transmit information about the status of all the atoms in the human body about 1032 bits are required, but for the transmission of digitized human genome – only 6 x 109 bits.

Technology that Venter writes about is not fiction – the company Synthetic Genomics, founded by Venter and his colleague Hamilton Smith, has been working on reading and assembling the DNA. But, of course, teleportation of a person in this manner cannot take place either now or in the near future. But to transmit information about the strain of a new virus from one laboratory to another and quickly create a vaccine to prevent pandemic can be possible now.

In 2011, Synthetic Genomics in collaboration with the

t.me/ufopediapdf

pharmaceutical company Novartis demonstrated an “assembly” of a vaccine based on the envelope proteins of avian influenza virus H7N9 (later the method was repeated for other strains) in less than five days (usually a similar vaccine production requires about two months). Moreover, such method can allow to build specialized bacteriophages which can be an excellent alternative to the use of antibiotics.

However, Venter claims that these methods can be used not only on our planet. Why not to use “biological teleportation” to detect life on Mars? Equipping rover with a biological laboratory, it is possible to transfer information about the found genomes to Earth, where they can be recreated and studied. And maybe someday the process will be reversed: the colonists will be able to receive the necessary bacteria and plants from Earth.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Do we already have colonists on Mars? Read my book Mars Colony and Moon Bases.

An amazing South African by the name of Michael Tellinger believes he has discovered the secret to the construction of the pyramids and other collosal structures. Whilst scouring the countryside of South Africa he finds hundreds of ‘ice cream’ cone shaped objects. For years he could not conceive a purpose for these ‘carvings’.

One day Michael read about an amazing structure in Florida called Coral Castle.

Coral Castle

Ed Leedskalnin lived in Miami. Single-handedly he built a huge

t.me/ufopediapdf

structure made of coral (some pieces weighing many tons). Ed was not a young man when he began this project so how on earth did he achieve this amazing feat?

Coral would be transported by truck to Ed's land. He would then insist the drivers leave before he started work on structuring the coral to form the most amazing edifices.

t.me/ufopediapdf

If not for the curiosity of two young boys we would never have known how Ed managed to lift and place atop each other these massive slabs of coral. Having peeped at Ed working from behind a large bush the boys returned home. They informed their parents that Ed levitated the huge blocks of coral by employing two ice cream cones. He held one cone in each hand then pointed them to the final resting position of the coral. Of course their parents believed the boys were ‘telling a story’. This method has been neglected (perhaps not by the US Military) until very recently.

Michael Tellinger has discovered these ‘ice cream cones’ throughout ancient ‘kraals’. Some are hidden under stones, others lie exposed on the ground.

Michael has experimented with metamorphised quartzite that he found manufactured into ‘guitat’ shapes. Sure enough these musical instruments issue deep notes when struck gently. The note continues for several seconds as if the instrument behaves like a

t.me/ufopediapdf

bell. The moon rings like a bell, the Earth rings like a bell. İn fact all the planets in our solar system an deven our sun emit a startling sound too fine for human hearing to pick up. Please visit you tube sites and the NASA site.

In the early 90s the Voyager 2 spacecraft swept past Jupiter, Saturn and Uranus. The probe identified electromagnetic disturbances and charged particle fluxes. These charged particles travel in the space between planets.

Recently these electromagnetic waves and particle oscillation frequencies were translated into sound at NASA. Each planet and our sun have their own repetitive resonant frequencies. Planet Earth is the sweetest sound of them all. They are becoming known as the song of the solar system.

t.me/ufopediapdf

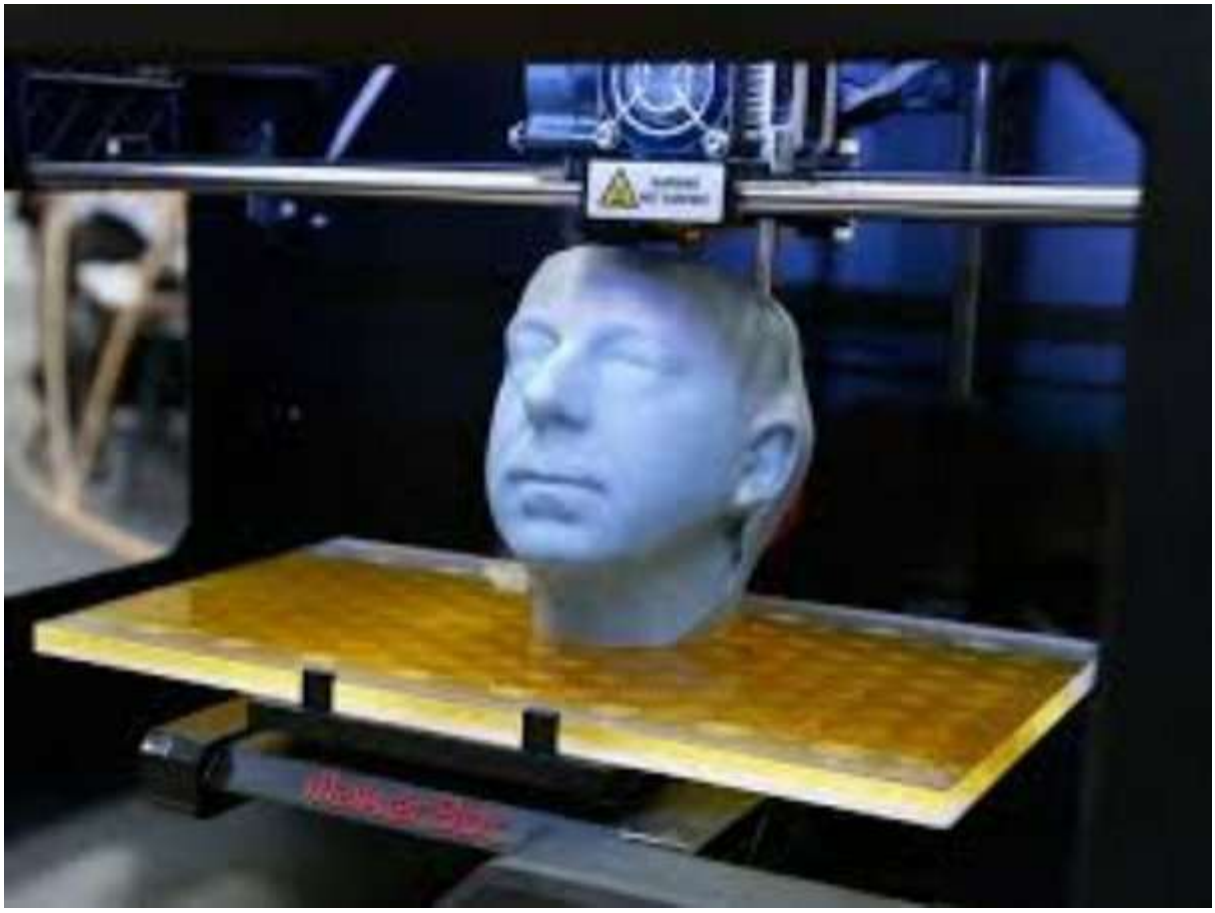
This brings me to the analogy of a radio set. All radio stations are present yet to listen to a particular radio station we must tune in to its frequency. This is precisely what the biological body does in order to remain extant and healthy. Even a slight alteration in the frequency causes disharmony. That is precisely what the elite Illuminati families have initiated. Using HAARP and chem trails they are loading the Earth with harmful frequencies and attempting to 'tune' the human body into these frequencies. The final 'nail in the coffin' is the imminent introduction of microchipping which will force the recipient to be permanently tuned to the harmful 'radio station'. I seriously warn you never to accept microchipping into your body. Do not believe the statements that microchipping will make us superhuman and able to personally talk to our computer and telepathically to each other. These clains will seem very enticing but it is the final stage in the plan to enslave the entire human race.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Michael Tellinger is still researching the power of the ‘ice cream cones’. Once he identifies the specific frequencies that operate the levitation mechanism he will prove to the world just how the pyramids were constructed and with such accuracy.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Ed Leedskalnin was using ancient technology, the same technology that was employed to build Baalbek, the Giza pyramids and all other ancient sites. These same sites are now proving to be millions of years old from recent geological surveys.



Who thought that the 3-D printer would become a reality?

Quantum Teleportation

What is teleportation? Here is an example. Lab A and Lab B each have a box. Teleportation should treansport any object that is placed in Box A and move it to Box B.

Of special interest to science fiction fans (among others) is human teleportation, where a brave telenaut (whom we shall call Jim) enters Box A and uses the teleportation machine to travel to Lab B. It turns out that human teleportation appears possible in principle.

Teleportation of much smaller objects is not only possible but has been accomplished in the laboratory. Our goal here is to explain how teleportation is achieved.

t.me/ufopediapdf

t.me/ufopediapdf

Classical teleportation

Load the cargo of box A onto a truck, drive the truck over to lab B then unload the cargo into box B. Of course this is transportation not teleportation.

A giant 3-D fax machine could in theory reproduce a human being.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Assuming the appropriate matter and energy is available in Lab B. The aim is to assemble it such that it is identical to the object placed in Box A.

There are so many drawbacks to this method not least that there would be two identical humans then three and so on.

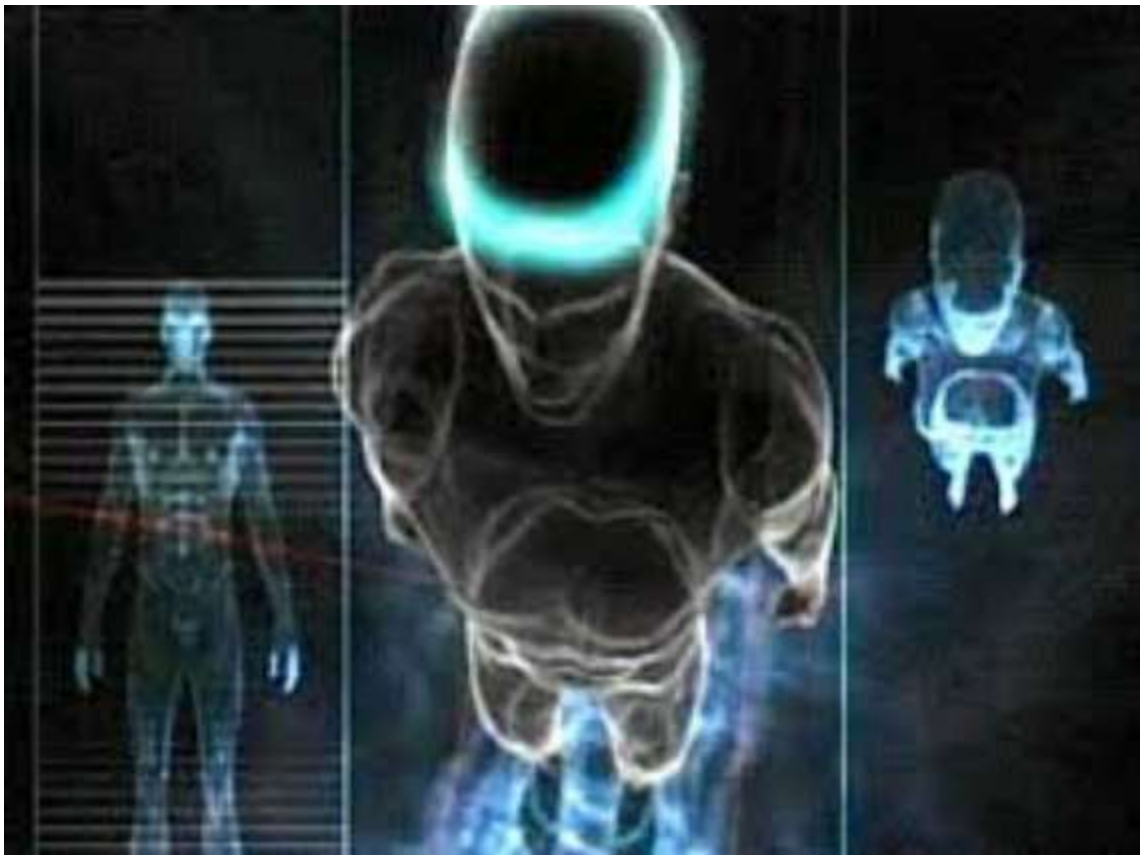
t.me/ufopediapdf

Quantum teleportation

The surprising result of quantum teleportation is that even though the "measure and reconstruct" procedure does not work, there is an alternative procedure that effectively validates teleportation in the quantum world.

Not until the publication of a 1993 paper by Bennett, Brassard, Crepeau, Jozsa, Peres and Wootters that scientists realized quantum teleportation was possible.

t.me/ufopediapdf



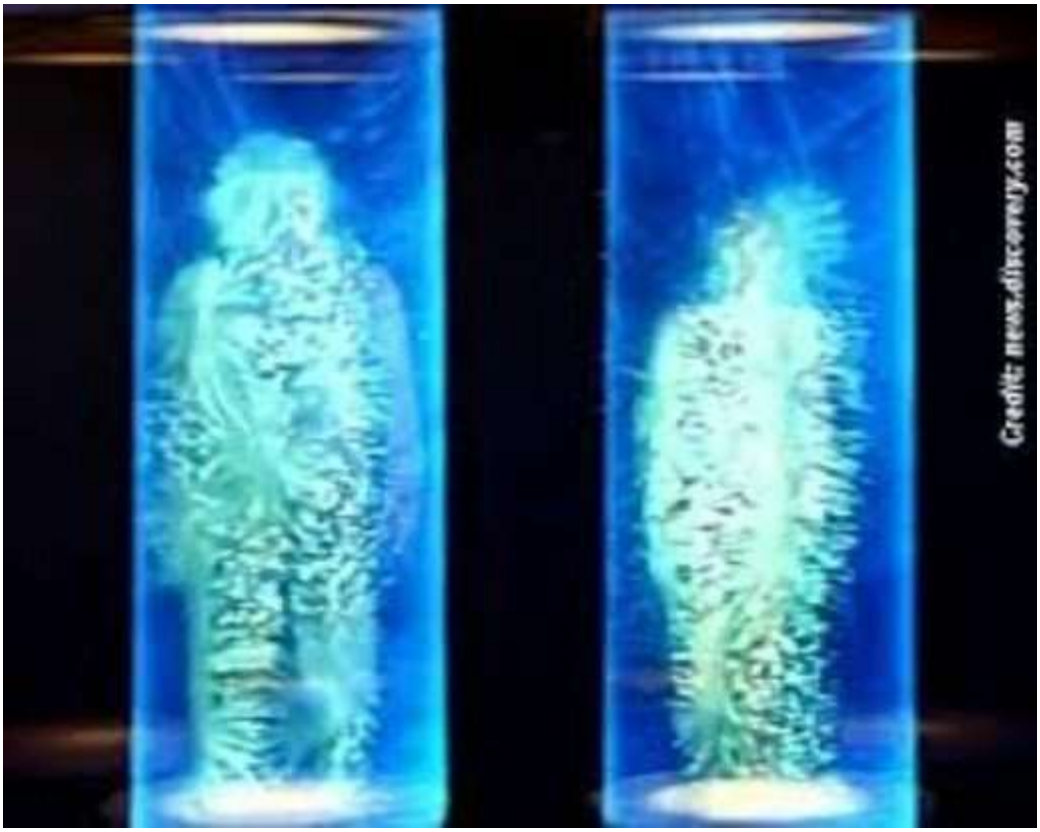
An entangled state is a pair of objects that are correlated in a quantum way. Below we will describe a specific example known as the "singlet state" of two spins. However, let us first explore the consequences of this extra requirement for quantum teleportation.

To prepare an entangled state of two particles, one essentially has to begin with both particles in the same laboratory. Begin in Lab A. In practice sending this particle to Lab B will destroy one entangled

t.me/ufopediapdf

state to create another entangled state.

The only solution is that in the past the wall that separates Lab A and Lab B was non existent. At that time scientists from the two labs colluded, created a large number of entangled states, then carried them to their respective laboratories.



The entanglement requirement poses a second problem since it is

t.me/ufopediapdf

destroyed when used.

Entanglement is effectively a resource that is slowly depleted as teleportations occur. It can be renewed by meeting in person and then carrying entanglement back from Lab A to Lab B but it has to be transported without the use of teleportation. In principle this is difficult, otherwise we wouldn't have bothered using teleportation from A to B in the first place.

However, the idea is that one difficult journey from A to B will allow in future many quick transfers from A to B.

Quantum information cannot be copied. The only way to teleport an object to Lab B is to destroy the object at Lab A.

t.me/ufopediapdf

At first glance, though, there seems to be a way to use the teleportation procedure for superluminal communication. That is, by measuring the spins in Lab A, we are instantaneously modifying the spin in Lab B.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Real experiments that perform teleportation

A number of groups conducted experimental realizations of the quantum teleportation procedure described above in the years 1997 and 1998, using a variety of different systems such as the spin (or polarization) of photons and the spin of atoms. In many cases Labs A and B were the left and right side of a table, and the spins were teleported roughly 50 cm.

The reason distance becomes relevant has to do with the distribution of entanglement which becomes harder as the separation between the two "labs" increases. A second related problem is the storing of entanglement which can only be done for very short periods, so in practice most early experiments distribute the entanglement only moments before it is to be used for teleportation. However, these experiments were sufficient to convince most physicists that teleportation of spins is possible.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Since 1997 there have also been many improved versions of the teleportation experiment. For instance, the distance has been increased in one experiment to 600 m, and the accuracy of the teleported state has also been slowly improving.

In principle, if you can teleport one spin, then you can teleport many spins simply by repeating the experiment in series many times. But this roughly only works on disjoint spins.

To teleport a single object comprised of many spins is still out of reach of present day experiments.

In the future, though, we should see experiments that teleport large numbers of spins. Certainly, if a practical quantum computer is ever built then the same technology would likely allow us to teleport a few thousand spins. It is likely that this will happen within the next 30--50 years, if not sooner.

t.me/ufopediapdf

But will we ever be able to teleport people?

There are some 10^29 matter particles comprising a human person, each of which has position and momentum degrees of freedom in addition to spin. In principle, we might also need to teleport the photons, gluons and other energy particles comprising a person.

t.me/ufopediapdf

While most scientists expect that ten, hundreds and maybe even thousands of spins will be teleported in practice some day, the teleportation of a human being, even in principle, is actually still a controversial subject.

In the meantime, one can ask if there any applications for teleporting thousands of spins?

In the future it is likely that quantum computers (i.e., computers capable of processing quantum information) will be built. These computers will need to exchange quantum information. One way these exchanges of information can occur is via a quantum phone (a device capable of sending and received quantum messages). Some time within the next 100 years you will see a quantum teleportation device for sale in your local computer store.

How Old is Mankind?

t.me/ufopediapdf

In the 1970s in Oklo, Gabon, African miners uncovered the remains of nuclear reactors. When Government officials investigated they called upon specialists from all over the world.

There is no record of a nuclear reactor in this region ever. In 1972, a French company imported some of this uranium ore. The company was irate as the uranium concentration in the ore was pitiful. They complained that the ore was waste uranium fuel from a nuclear reactor. Impossible cried the Gabon Government. We have no record of dumped waste nuclear material at this site. Scientists worldwide flocked to the site and it was immediately closed to the public and miners alike.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Reactor Zone 15 - Oklo
Natural Reactors no longer possible: only 1/3 of U235 is left Yellow: yellowcake (uranium ore) White: hydrothermal quarz

This yellowish rock in the photograph above is the Uranium oxide. All the scientists agreed that this uranium had already been used for energy production. Despite this they and everybody else would not believe their own findings. Why? Because the strata that contained the spent nuclear fuel was two billion years old.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Found in six different areas this ‘ancient reactor’ comprises five hundred tons of utilized uranium ore. Its output power was estimated to be approximately one hundred kilowatts.

It is estimated that the reactor was in operation for around 500,000 years. Half a million years of nuclear energy for people living in Africa two billion years ago. You have got to be kidding.

So the scientists have abandoned further research and the CIA has ‘put a lid on it’. Wouldn’t like to think some pesky Africans knew more than we do now - two billion years ago.

This discovery raised the intriguing possibility that a technologically more advanced civilization existed two billion years ago and it had advanced knowledge of nuclear fission.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Of course we would have to rewrite history and explain to common people that perhaps we have mistakenly interpreted the entire course of human evolution.

In the west of Arabia (over a total area of 7000 miles) lie shattered, blackened green stones. For many years this ‘natural occurrence’ passed without investigation. Recently extensive tests were made to determine what caused the fused ‘green glass’ effect. Experts have determined that they are certainly not volcanic in origin. Neither is there evidence of comet or meteorite impacts.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Albion W Hart investigated many desert regions that similarly displayed this ‘green glass’ effect and concomitant blackened boulders. He and his team postulated an incredible theory.

To date mainstream science refuses to acknowledge the veracity of his astonishing finds despite confirming his supposition. It was not until fifty years later that Hart satisfied himself that he had indeed been correct.

“Later on during his lifetime Hart visited the White Sands area after the first atomic explosion and he recognized the same type of silica fusion which he had seen fifty years earlier in the African desert."

Undoubtedly the ‘green glass’ effect was the result of a massive nuclear explosion and the black, shattered stones were remnants of dwellings. Centuries ago the Arabian desert had been a lush and

t.me/ufopediapdf

fruitful paradise, to be senselessly destroyed by nuclear warfare.

This fused ‘green glass’ is present in many desert regions including the Gobi Desert, desert regions in Southern Iraq, China and the Mohave Desert and Death Valley in the USA.

Whilst exploring Death Valley in 1850 William Walker discovered the ruins of an ancient city. Many of the stones that were once buildings were melted and vitrified. Paving blocks and stone houses were severed, showing huge cracks as if seared by some gigantic ‘burst of fire’.

Despite overwhelming evidence of nuclear weaponry having been used in all these areas science and our Governments prefer to adopt the pose of an Ostrich.

Alien Abduction

t.me/ufopediapdf

Every year over 700,000 people around the world simply disappear. In the USA alone there are over a million disappearances unaccounted for. Almost half a million humans claim to have been abducted by aliens. Are they all lying?

Abductees claim to be taken at night from their room, placed on an experimental table in an alien spacecraft then prodded and probed. Often a uterus or ova are removed, sperm taken and some claim they have been forced to have sex with aliens.

Is this the beginning of an alien invasion or are we being prepared for a new hybridised alien/superhuman species? Who really dominates planet Earth and what are the frequent lights we see flying over major nuclear and airforce bases or hovering over cities?

t.me/ufopediapdf

After the Roswell crash in 1947 President Eisenhower signed a treaty with greys. İn exchange for American domination of planet Earth through the use of alien technology the American administration would turn a blind eye to abductions of human beings by the greys.

Some say that treaty has been broken and the greys are settling in under American soil readying themselves to occupy our planet and enslave our race. In September 1979 President Jimmy Carter ordered an attack on the Dulce Base at New Mexico. If this is a secret Government base why are the U.S. Government attacking it?

t.me/ufopediapdf

Could there be a breakaway military power on U.S. soil? Is the President of the United States a prisoner in Office? Are the greys living under U.S. soil in DUMBs (deep underground military bases)? Are they and the military experimenting on live humans captured then brought deep under ground for genetic experimentation and hybridisation?

Recently there is evidence that the USA and China are fighting together over the Pacific Ocean to repel an alien attack on the

t.me/ufopediapdf

Earth.

Far fetched or a factual nightmare?

Pyramids

Egypt has pyramids – we all know that. Why were they built? How

t.me/ufopediapdf

were they built? What were they used for? No mummies or treasure were found in the famous pyramids at Giza. What is not well known is that the rest of the world also has pyramids.

central America (Aztec, Maya, Inca, Toltec etc)

Belize: the Mayans built pyramids at Altun Ha, Caracol, Lamanai, Lubaantun, Nim Li Punit, Xunantunich El Salvador: San Andres, Tazumal Guatemala: Aguateca, Dos Pilas, Tikal Honduras: Copan Mexico: Bonampak, Calakmul, Chichen Itza, Cholula, Coba, Comalcalco, El Tajin, La Venta, Mayapan, Moral-Reforma, Palenque, Acatitlan, Tenayuca, Tenochtitlan, El Tepozteco, Hidalgo, Uxmal, Xochicalco, Xochitecatl, Yaxchilan

The mystery of the thousands of pyramids throughout the planet may never be resolved.

I detail the real possibility of underground civilizations that survived the Great Flood. After the Second World War these aliens were joined by the Nazis. Read my book Aliens, Nazis and Hollow Earth.

Holograms

The dictionary definition of virtual reality:
The computer-generated simulation of a 3-D image or environment that can be interacted with in a seemingly real or physical way by a person using special electronic equipment (such as a helmet with a screen inside or gloves fitted with sensors).

t.me/ufopediapdf

This interaction with the environment is unreal in the respect that the objects and encounters are not present in our world yet fool the senses into believing they are real. This brings me a very important point. What if the entire physical world around us is simply a super cosmic computer generated image? Next time you are immersed in a real time computer game with others pause for a moment and think how real this all seems at that moment.

Virtual Reality as a means to escape for purposes of cerebral adventure is still in its infancy. Problems with the cumbersome headgear and nausea need to be addressed. However, in time, we will all be acting out our fantasies with over the counter products. For now I wish to point you in the direction of existing uses of VR that are invaluable to science.

t.me/ufopediapdf

VR is used extensively in the military to train troops and also many suspect a more sinister purpose. Gamers are enlisted to ‘take out’ targets they initially believe to be computer generated personnel. It transpires that the targets are live defenceless civilians from foreign soils.

VR in healthcare is a real boon. Virtual autopsies are performed as are virtual operations. In this way student doctors (especially surgeons) may practice on virtual patients until they become proficient.

Rolls Royce engines and turbines and many other similar products are now designed using Virtual Reality techniques.

t.me/ufopediapdf

VR is entering the field of education as more and more academics realise the value of 3-D.
Scientific projects are often trialed using VR.

Other uses of VR are found in movies, construction, sport, programming languages and telecommunications.

Now that we possess knowledge that our Universe and our own bodies may indeed be a massive hologram let us briefly look at superstrings.

Cosmic Strings

Cosmic strings are thin threads of energy that are hugely dense. The tiniest string is able to warp time. If two infinite strings passed

t.me/ufopediapdf

each other they effectively create a time machine by warping light eccentrically.

Cosmic Strings are hypothetically a 1-dimensional (spatially) topological defect in the fabric of spacetime left over from the formation of the universe. Interaction will create fields of closed time-like curves permitting backwards time travel.

Some scientists have suggested using "cosmic strings" to construct a time machine. By manoeuvering two cosmic strings close together – or possibly just one string plus a black hole – it is theoretically possible to create a whole array of "closed time-like curves."

Cause two infinitely long cosmic strings to pass each other at very high speeds. Now if a spacedhip should fly in a figure of eight around them it will be able to travel anywhere in the Universe.

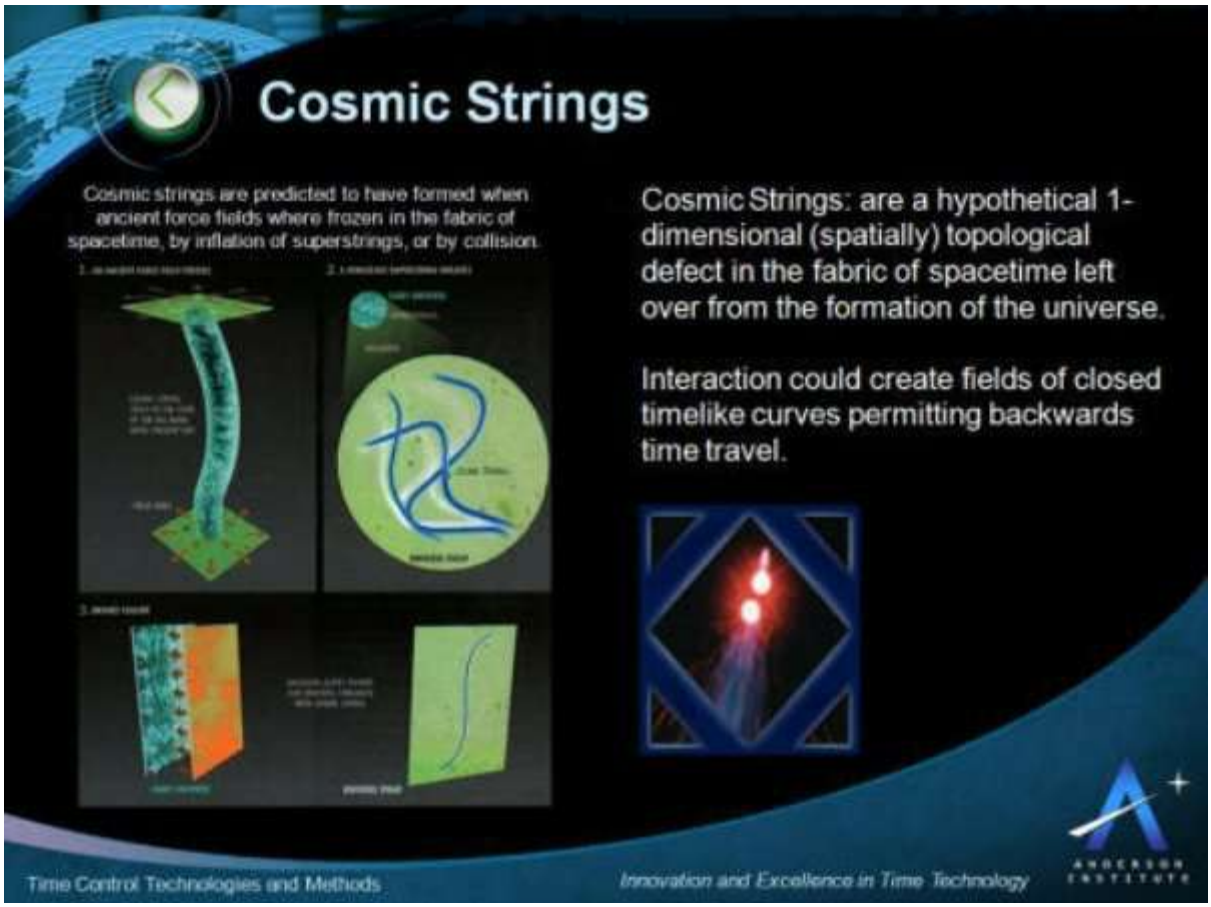
t.me/ufopediapdf

A black hole contains a one-dimensional singularity (infinitely small point in the space-time continuum).

A cosmic string would be a two-dimensional infinitely thin line that has even stranger effects on the fabric of space and time.

Although no one has discovered a cosmic string astrophysicists have suggested that these strings may explain strange effects seen in distant galaxies.

t.me/ufopediapdf



Cosmic Strings
Cosmic strings are predicted to have formed when ancient force fields where frozen in the fabric of spacetime, by inflation of superstrings, or by collision.

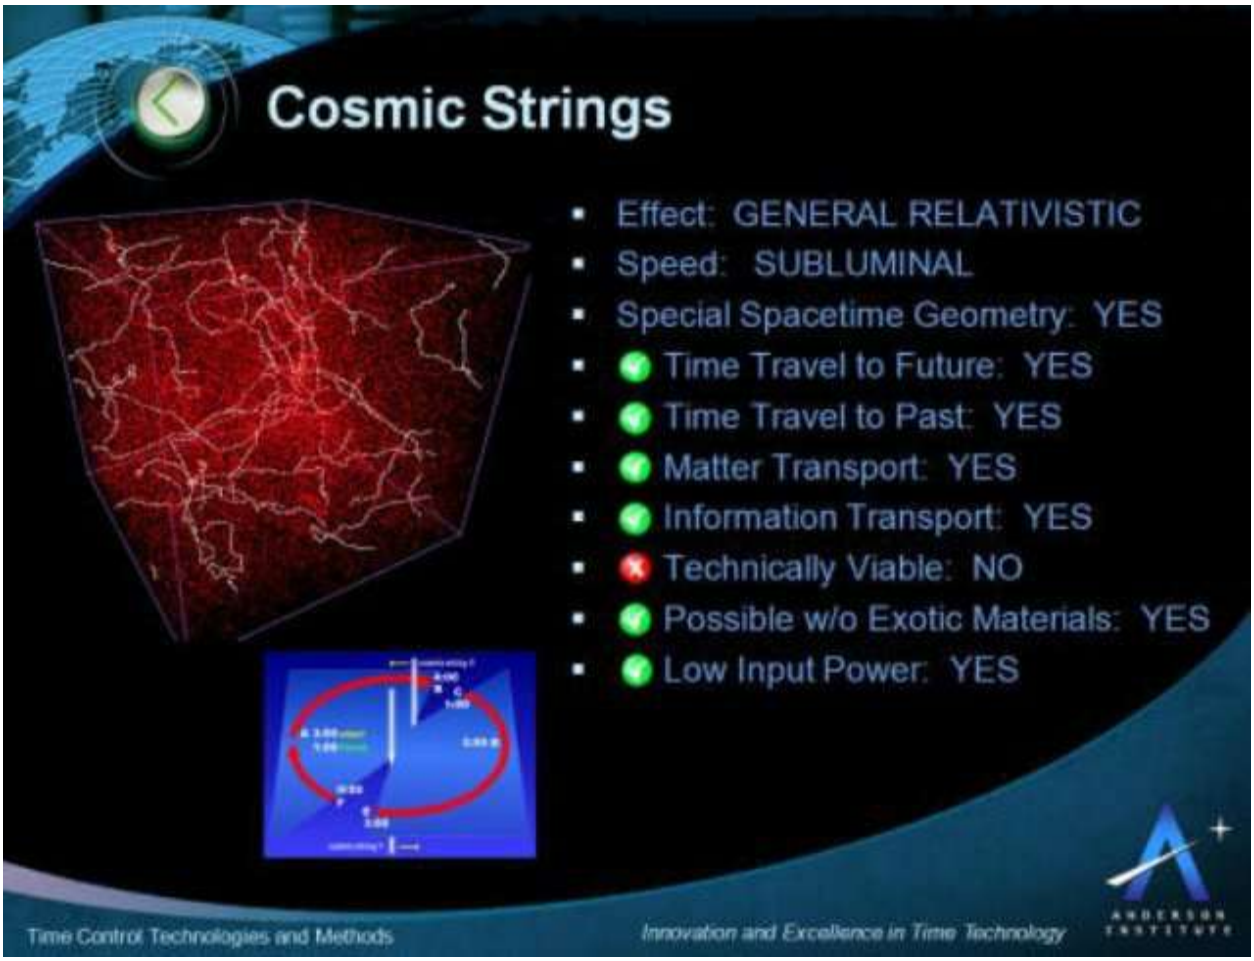
Time Control Technologies and Methods
Innovation and Excellence in Time Technology

Cosmic strings are hypothesized to form when the field undergoes a phase change in different regions of spacetime, resulting in condensations of energy density at the boundaries between regions. This is somewhat analogous to the imperfections that form between crystal grains in solidifying liquids or the cracks that form when water freezes into ice.

t.me/ufopediapdf

The phase changes that produce cosmic strings may have occurred in the earliest moments of the universe's evolution.

The key characteristics of the application of cosmic strings for time control and time travel are presented in the picture below.



t.me/ufopediapdf

A cosmic string 1.6 kilometers in length may be heavier than the Earth. However general relativity predicts that the gravitational potential of a straight string vanishes - there is no gravitational force on static surrounding matter.

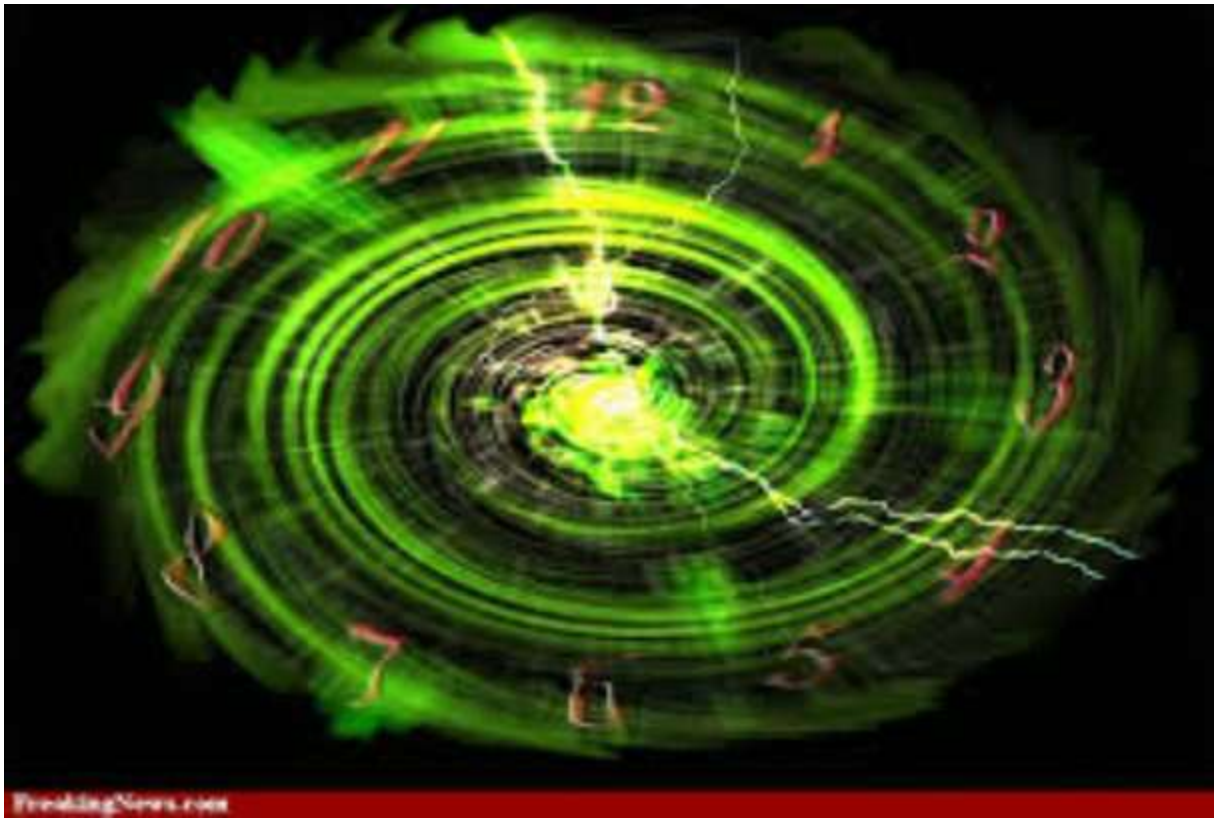
The only gravitational effect of a straight cosmic string is a relative deflection of matter (or light) passing the string on opposite sides (a purely topological effect). A closed loop of cosmic string gravitates in a more conventional way. During the expansion of the universe, cosmic strings would form a network of loops, and their gravity could have been responsible for the original clumping of matter into galactic superclusters.

A cosmic string oscillates at near the speed of light. This causes part of the string to pinch off into an isolated loop. Such loops have a finite lifespan due to decay via gravitational radiation.

On Earth a tunnel will be the shortest distance either through a

t.me/ufopediapdf

mountain or through the Earth itself. In spacetime the shortest distance is through a wormhole:



Think of a guitar string that has been tuned by stretching the string under tension across the guitar. Different musical notes are produced by plucking the guitar string more vigorously or for a longer period.

t.me/ufopediapdf

Elementary particles (observed in particle accelerators such as the Large Hadron Collider) in string theory are akin to musical notes. These 'musical notes' are termed excitation modes.

Strings in string theory are floating in spacetime. To become excited the string must be stretched and sure enough each invisible string has tension. This tension (alpha prime) is precisely equivalent to the square of the string length scale.

It would be ideal if the average size of a string is approximately the same as the length scale of quantum gravity. This is the Planck length( about 10^{-33}centimetres, named after Max Planck)

String theories presuppose the strings to be closed loops or the particle spectrum includes fermions. To include fermions in string

t.me/ufopediapdf

theory we must have a specific form of symmetry we call supersymmetry.

Supersymmetry relates all particles that transmit forces to particles that comprise matter.

For every boson (particle that transmits a force) there is a corresponding fermion (particle that comprises matter).

t.me/ufopediapdf

The LHC and other particle accelerators are searching for evidence for high energy supersymmetry. This whole concept is a means by which physicists are attempting to answer the many questions they have defining the Universe in terms of Newtonian physics. Whereas once the Earth was flat and everything revolved around our planet then Newton introduced gravity to a spherical world that occupied a minute amount of space in an insignificant Solar System we realise we still do not have our facts right.

I refer you to http://www.superstringtheory.com/ and similar websites for a full explanation.

t.me/ufopediapdf

UFOs

Perhaps the most amazing mystery of modern times is the incredicle number of unidentified flying objects seen in our skies this century. It is estimated that sightings (which occur from China right around the world to Brazil) are doubling each year.

Nowadays a majority of the population of our planet believe we

t.me/ufopediapdf

are being visited by aliens. How many species are there? Some quote as many as 54. Where do they come from? Distant galaxies via special black holes say some, they are interdimensional beings say others.

Many of us would like to think they are our descendents coming from the future to prevent us from destroying the planet. One thing is for sure, if they could have taken over the planet or they were here to harm us they would have done so by now. In fact there is extensive proof that the 'alien' craft are intent on neutralising the nuclear warheads owned by the superpowers. Perhaps we are entering a new spiritual age of enlightenment as New Agers believe.

So are we to believe all the strange objects and mysteries? Is the world a stranger place than we had otherwise been led to believe? I encourage you to discover more for yourself.

t.me/ufopediapdf

What is Real Reality?

We blindly accept that our Governments are acting in our best interests. We follow our parents' religion like sheep. We identify ourselves by nationality, gender and sexusl preference. We succumb t control by the authorities, police forces and armed forces. We cheer like football hooligans when our military might murders millions of innocent civilians. We feel safe behind the nuclear might of our superpower countries. Yet what if those same authorities, those same leaders, those same armies turned on us?

This is happening today in the USA. Given unliimited power the Shadow Government under instruction from a small group of the elite we know as the Illuminati are seizing our homes, our guns and our freedom. This is the Final Curtain for humanity unless some 'wildcard' is played by a force that we do not know exists.

t.me/ufopediapdf

The Matrix movies tell it like it is – examine us at molecular level we are empty spaces, holograms. The five senses operate to provide a ‘sense’ of reality.

We feel it therefore it must be real. We see it therefore it is visible. Yet outside the tiny spectrum that humans perceive there is much more ten dimensions more and more Universes and so on. In fact all that could possibly exist does exist simultaneously everywhere.

God is not coming to save us we must save ourselves. Know that you will die (leave the body) and if you are not aware you are reborn owing to desire for what is here (in the illusion). By losing all desire for material things including relationships, wealth, body consciousness etc then and only then do you pass to the next dimension – step up in Reality.

Miracles happen all the time – silly ones where someone eats a

t.me/ufopediapdf

light bulb or important ones where a mother lifts a car to save her trapped baby. People have walked through walls, been transported from one spot to another on a different continent and some have x-ray vision. Because these things are not mainstream we marvel at them then we ‘go back to sleep’.

But

What if the good and the evil is a juxtaposition of thoughts played out in our ‘reality’?

What if all musical compositions were a Divine joint effort?

What if all inventions have been Divinely inspired?

What if we are simply drops in an Ocean?

What if we believed that we are all capable of miracles all of the time?

What if we really knew that we are ONE consciousness examining itself.

t.me/ufopediapdf

What if we are all One buying in to the Cosmic Computer Game?

The entire fabric of our reality on planet Earth is like the pack of cards in Alice in Wonderland. The Illuminati elite are represented by the Queen of Hearts. If you believe you are a weak, defenceless human being then all the mind control and generations of disinformation have worked. However there is True Reality. At all costs the Demon Worshippers do not wish for us to discern the Truth.

Demonic and satanic worship are detailed in my books They Sold Their Souls to the Devil and Dirty Disney.

Secrets of the occult and spiritual symbols are explained in my book Sacred Symbols and Occult Design.

We are all aspects of the One. Pure Potential in the making. We are

t.me/ufopediapdf

beings of energy, immortal and indivisible. We are connected to the One as waves are connected to the ocean. We cannot be separated from what is us. In the beginning there was no beginning and there will be no end. We are indivisably part of the Collective Consciousness that is all there is, was and ever will be at the same moment.

Time and space are an illusion. Life and death are illusions. The Multiverses are illusions. There is one Consciousness from which all thoughts arise. This is known as Pure Potential. For full details checkout the scientific data on the Unified Field Theory. I hope you are now fully awake and aware. This has been a pleasure.
